FOREWORD

It was an in and out year. It started with Laugh-ins and sit-ins, with love-ins and grub-ins. We created them to satisfy our wants, but we were fickle, and none held our attention for very long. They soon went out.

In all, it was an in and out year: A Republican convention came in and a Republican president came out. Joe Namath came in because Johnny Unitas conked out. The Russians came in, Czechoslovakia gave out. Biafra couldn't get planes in, and Cuba couldn't keep them out.

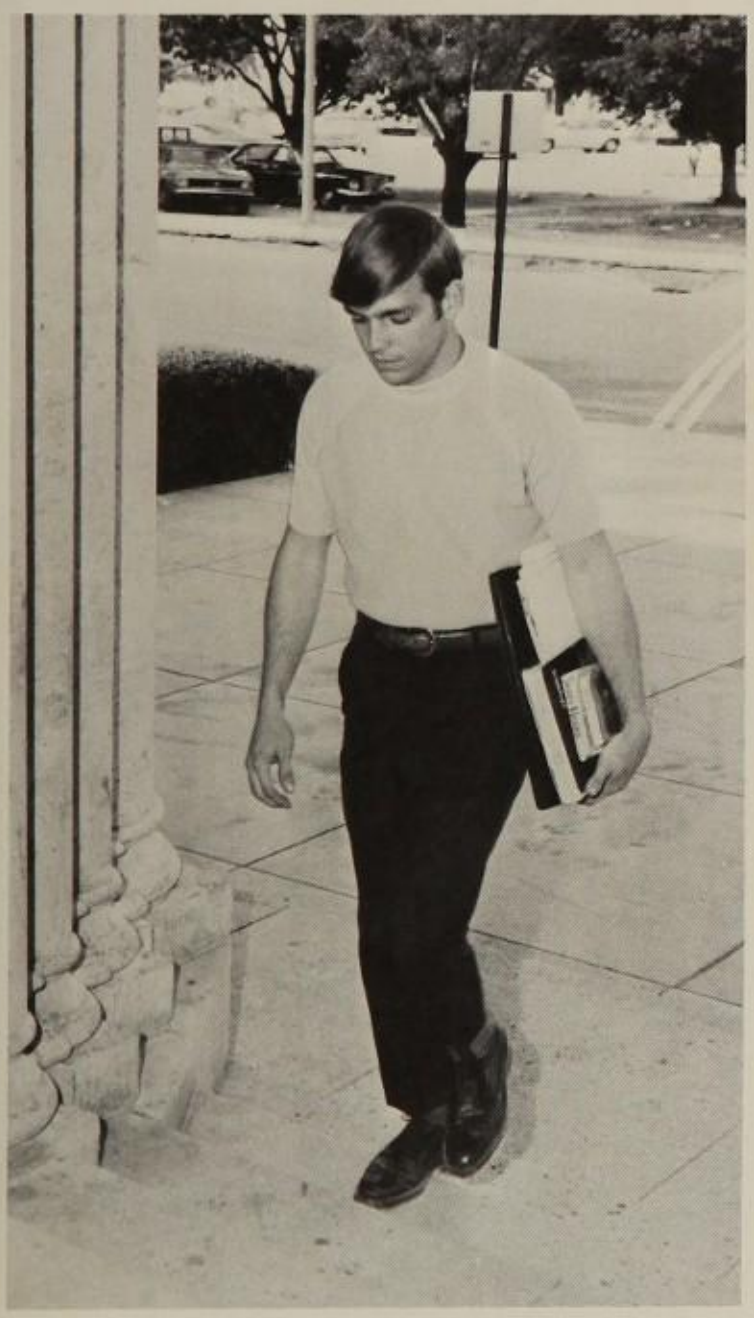
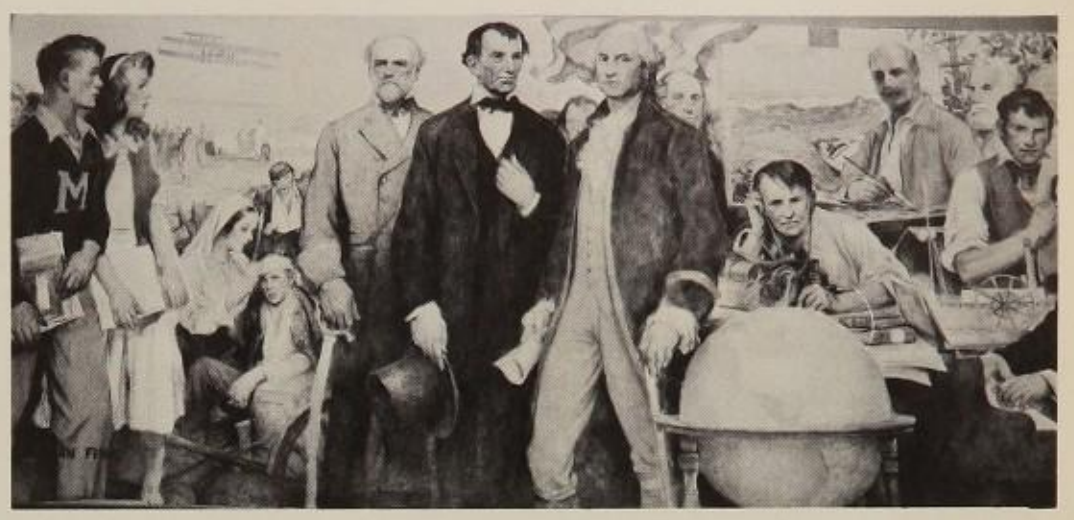
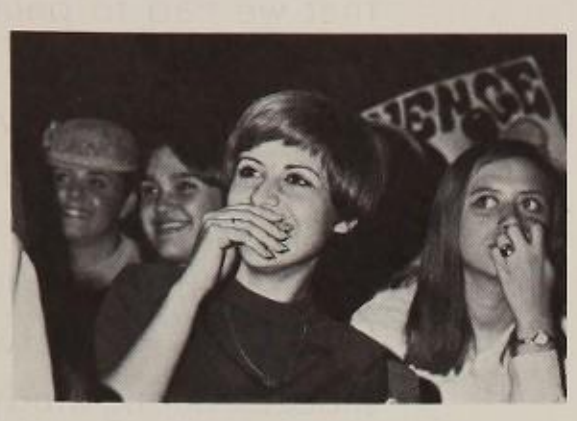
ARRIVAL

Finally, we were in. No cheers, no fanfare, just a few murals depicting lofty ideals by way of a gentle reminder. Everyone simply assumed that we knew what was expected of us. After all, we had only to become athletes (or at least, die in the attempt), and scholars (the magic 2.6 put you into college and out of the draft), and to be socially accepted by our peer group. For such a simple task, who was to think that we would need any prodding . . . at least at the beginning?



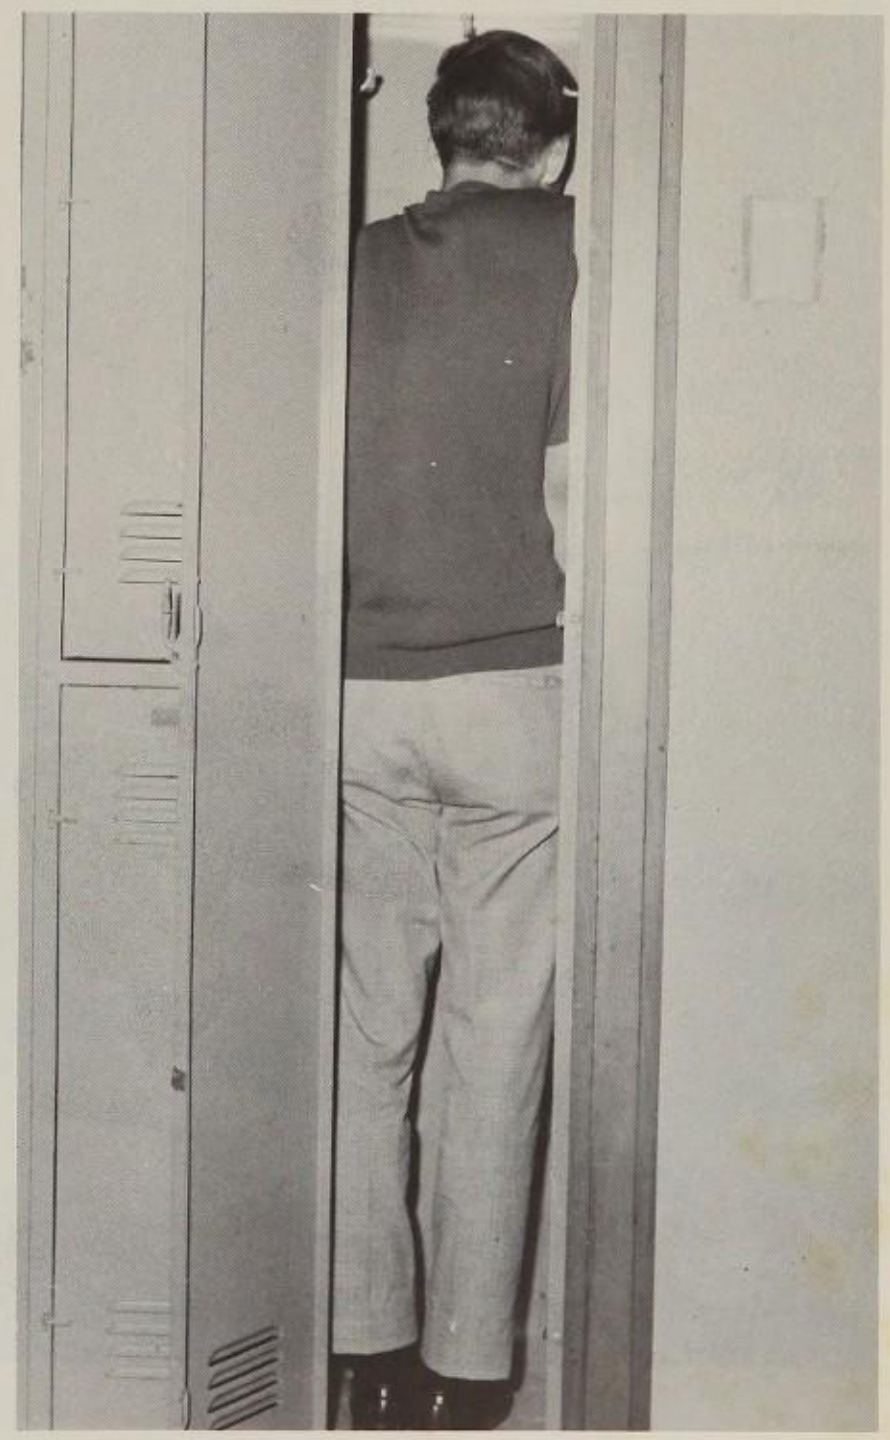


TENSION



The goals have been clearly outlined, but reaching them often required more than we were willing to put into it. That's when the professional pushers, yellers and teasers came in. They were the parents, the teachers, the counselors, the coaches. They were those who were a little superior, those who could afford to look down on us.

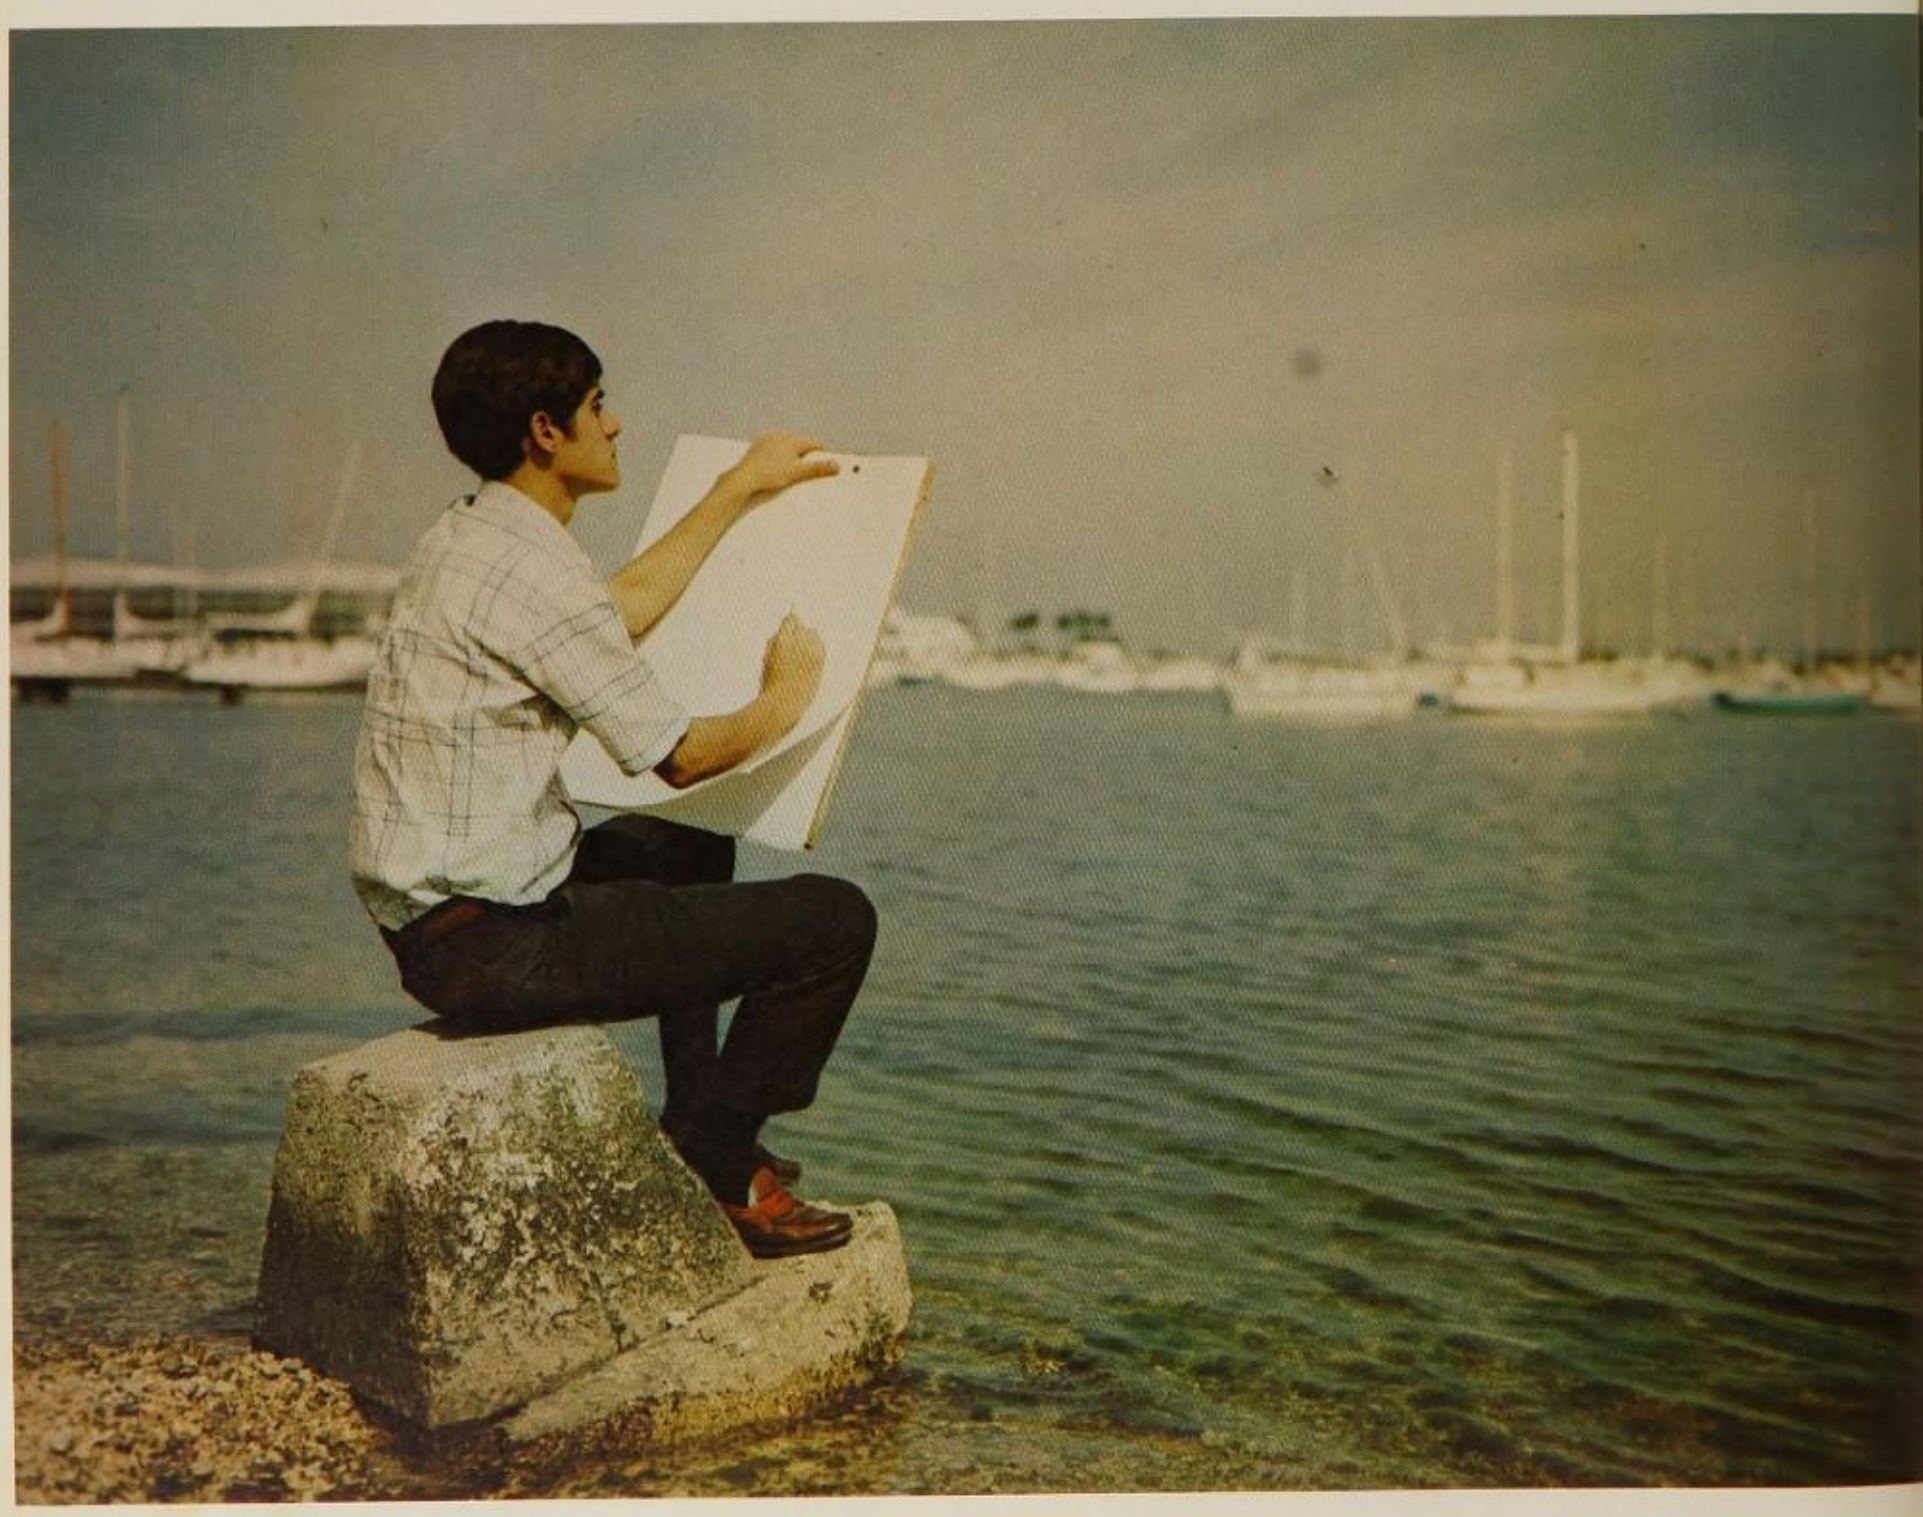
Pressure was everywhere and, sure, we gave it our best. But was this good enough? At times, pressure and failure turned into frustration and despair. Some tried to get away from the race—but they never stayed away long . . .



REST

We were human. There was nothing unusual about that—it simply meant that we had to pause and put back in what we had taken out. It meant that many gave way to week-end romps and daylong picnics. It also meant that those less fortunate (or those more devoted to the cause) limited themselves to breathers between classes and snoozes during study halls.

Relaxation became the art of ignoring our surroundings, of ignoring the pressures, and filling the gaps left by the system with our own creations.



Life; there's
It has been so much fun knowing you this year in Shop. Ed. You're a sweet & funny girl & I hope you stay that way.

Luv,

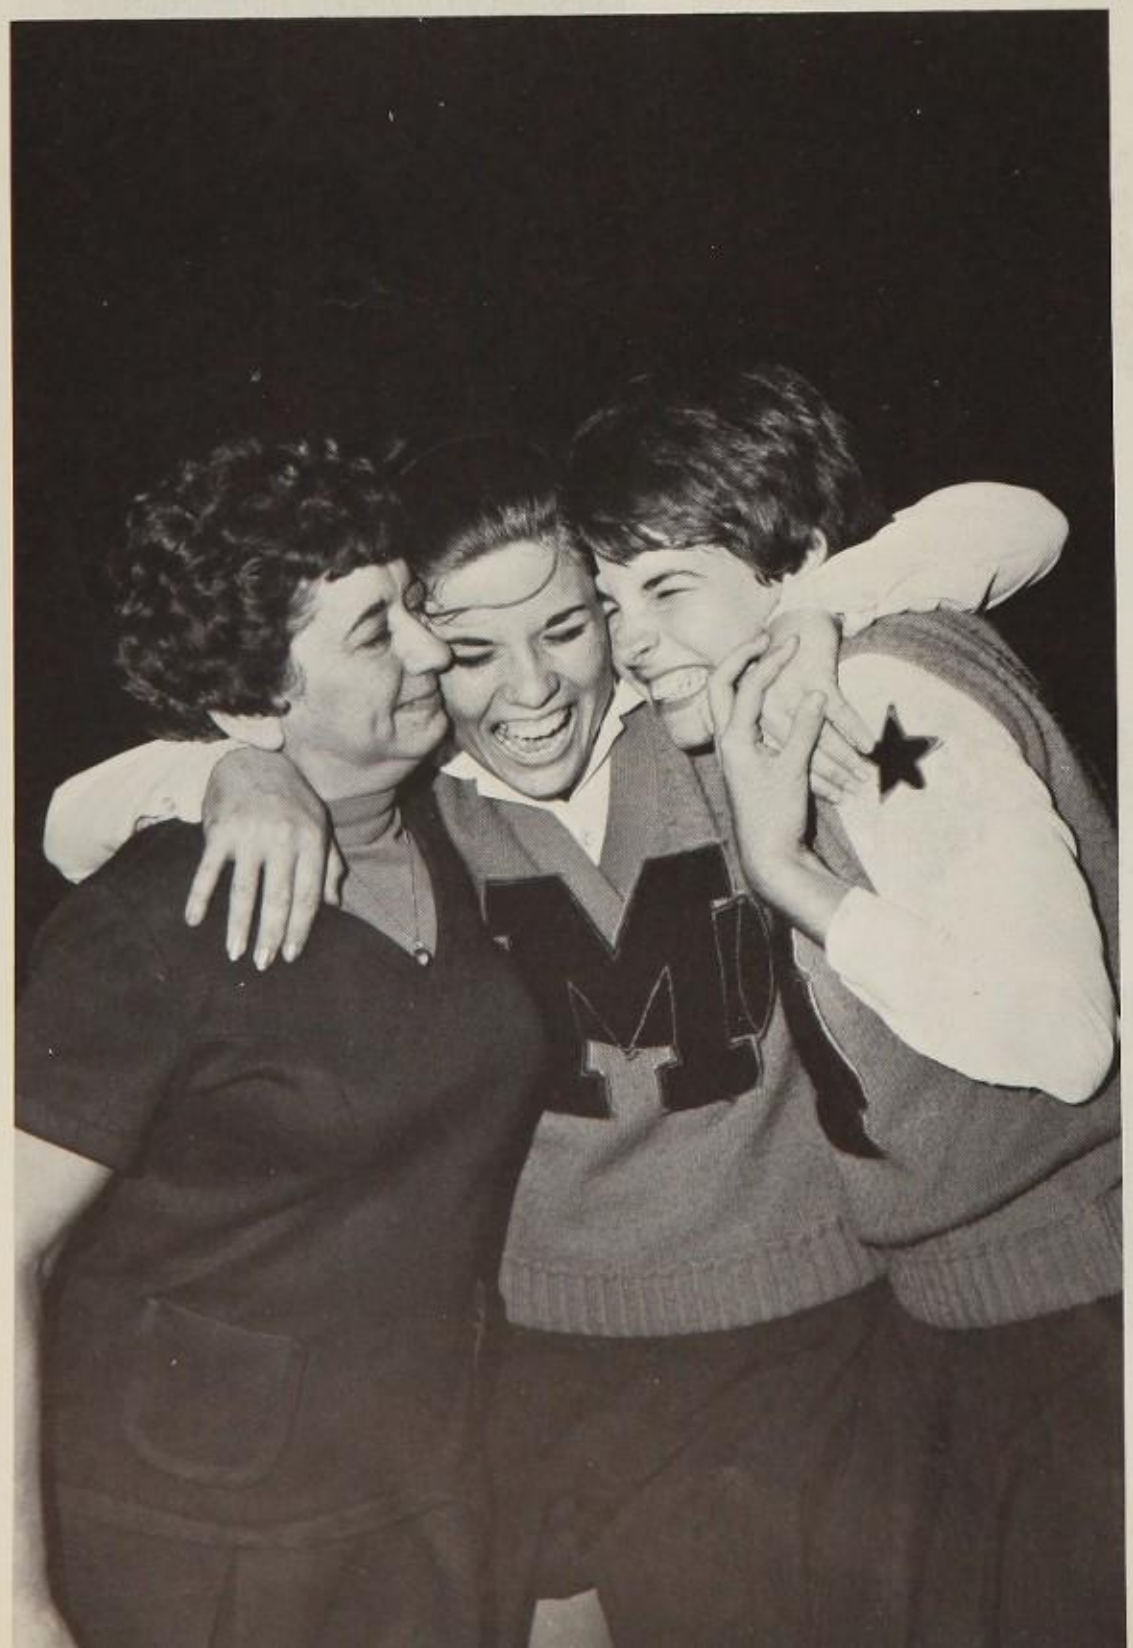
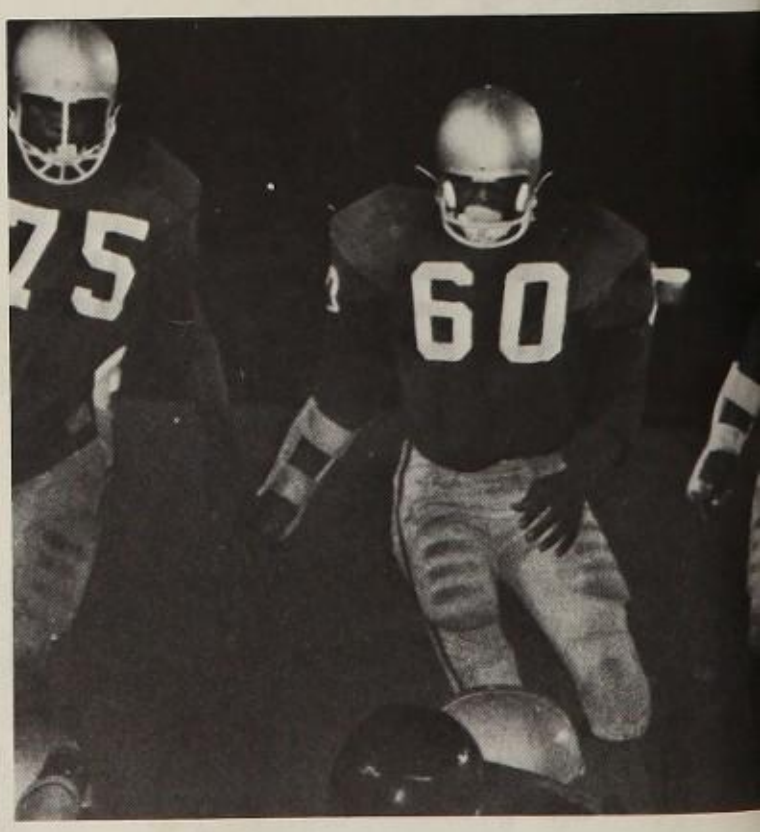
COMMENDATION

Recognition and reward were the ultimate goals. Diligent students sought them in grades and scores. The active minded found them in clubs or sports. Recognition could be found in individuality: in being valedictorian, in being the most popular, in being the leader, in scoring the touchdown. Recognition could also be found in anonymity: in belonging to the team, in wearing the right tag or pin, in wearing accepted clothes in the accepted fashion, in speaking with the right accent . . .





. . . Reward, on the other hand, was simple and conclusive. It made the recognition we obtained insignificant and obsolete. Reward always came late . . . with an acceptance to college or a temporary rejection from Uncle Sam.

LEAVING

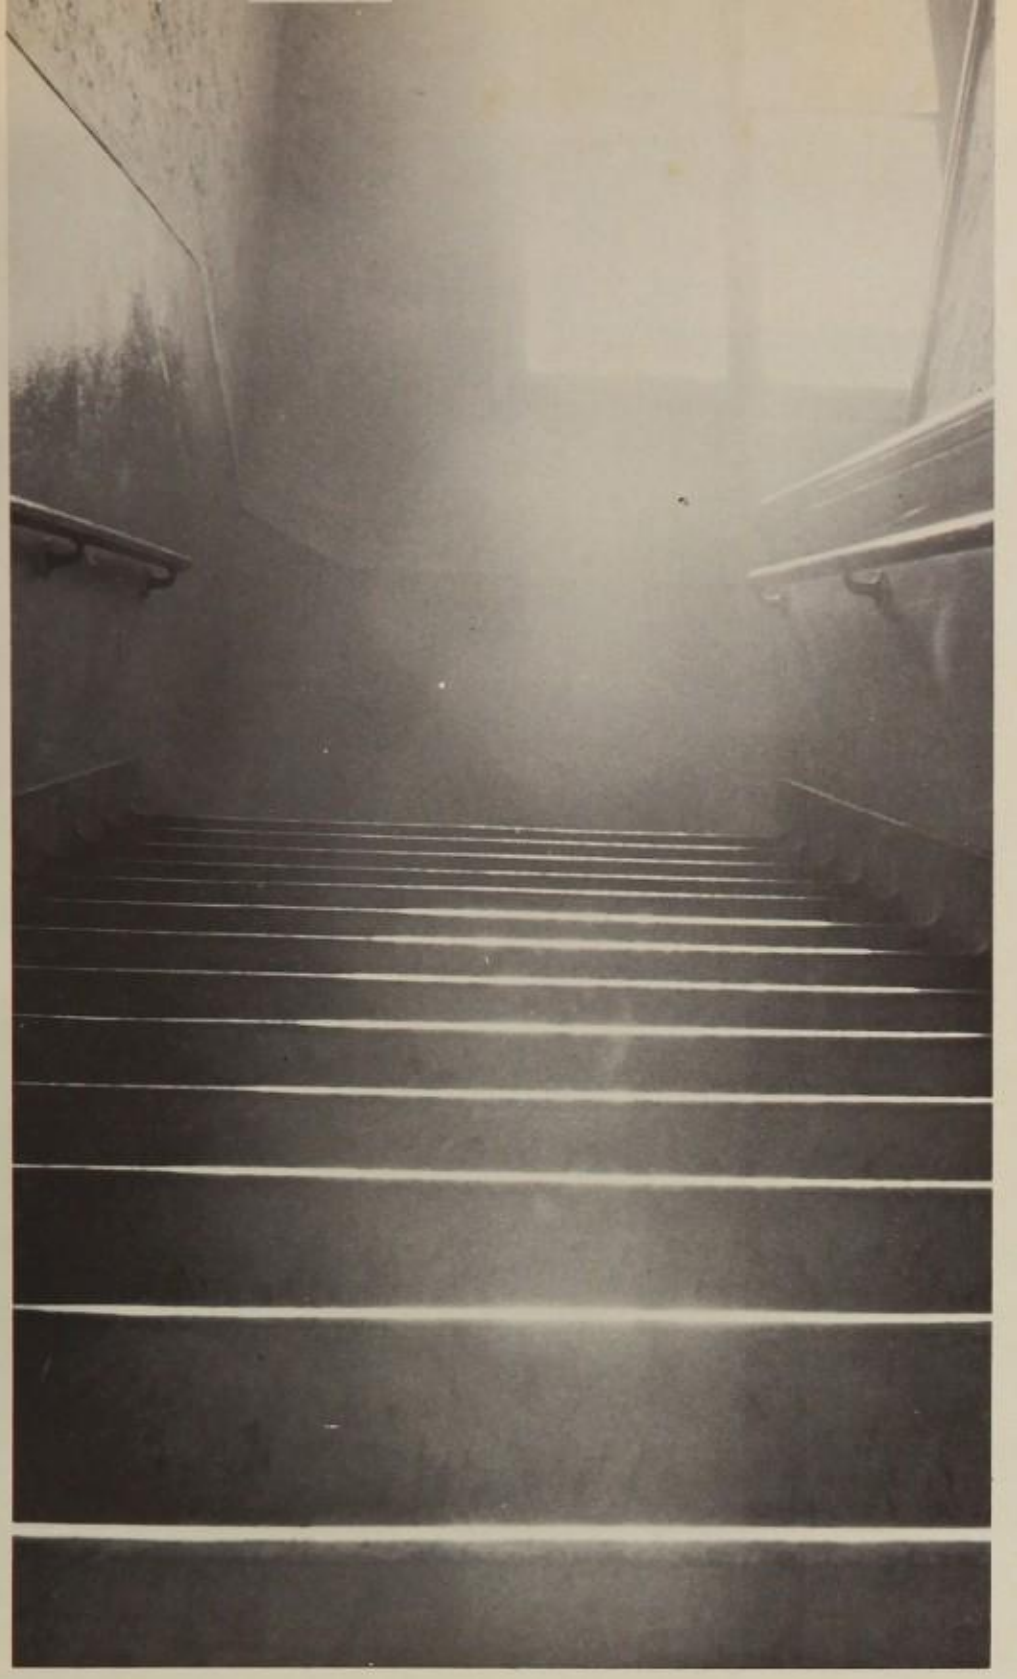
It ended just in time. We had enjoyed, experienced, and endured high school for three years. In that time, it gave us a little knowledge, many friendships, and polarized our personalities. Its purpose had been accomplished—and we were ready to move on. These were our views—on the day we left, anyway . . .

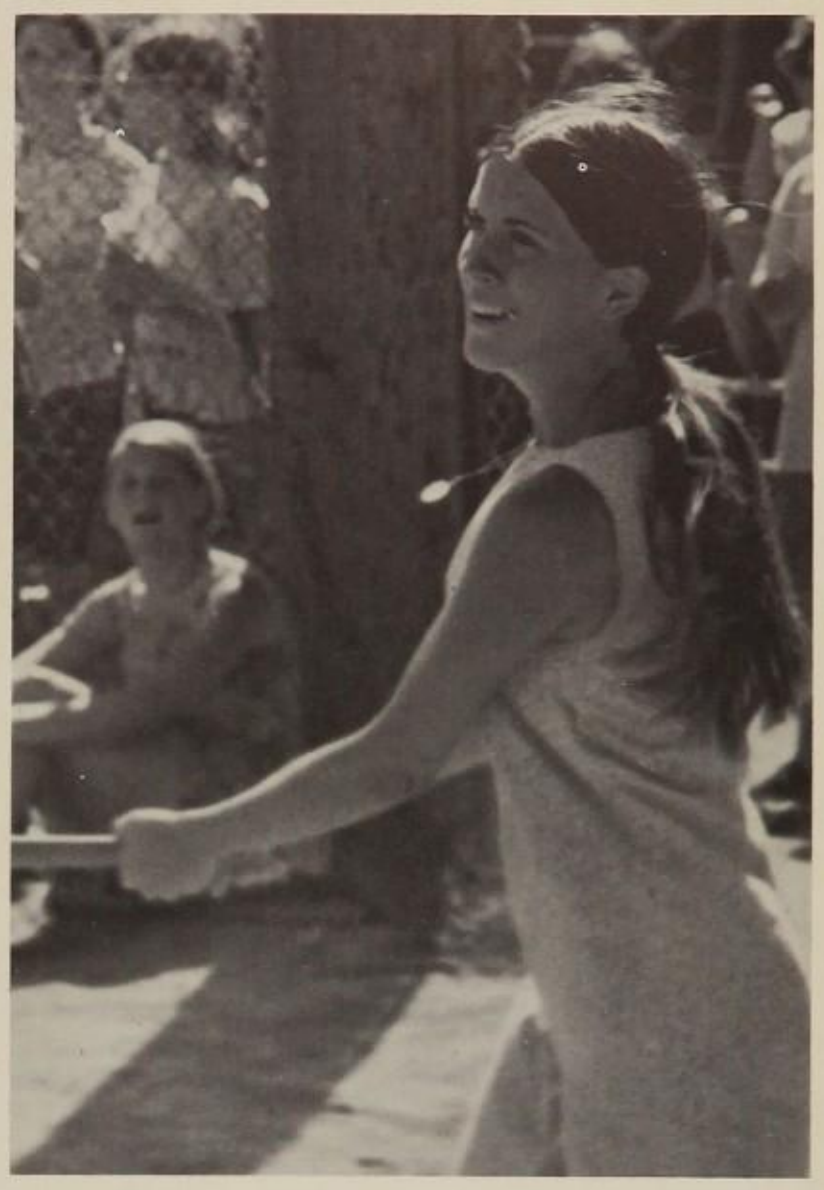
ACTIVITIES ACTIVITIES

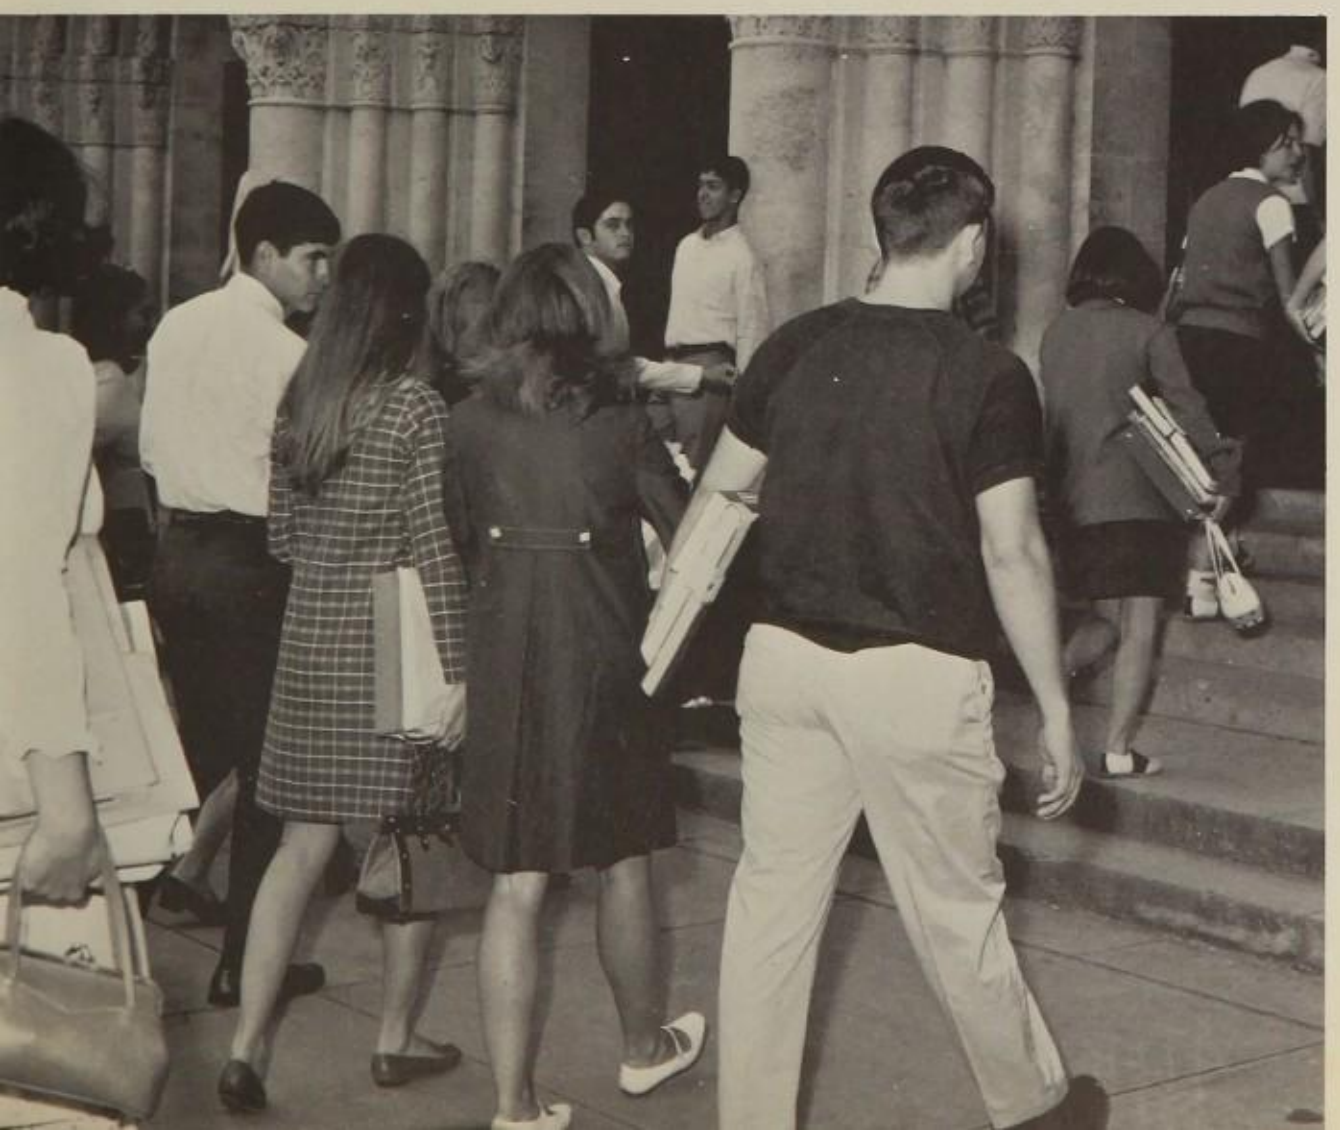
ACTIVITIES

TRANSITION

Time was running out
September and school approached.
Our attitudes changed
The transition began.
The last softball game
The final walk on the beach.
The empty staircase beckoned
And we were back in school.







IN THE SWING

It was a whirlwind.
Memories and faces are blurred,
Time loses its dimension.
Do we remember?
It happened fast . . .
Did we capture it?

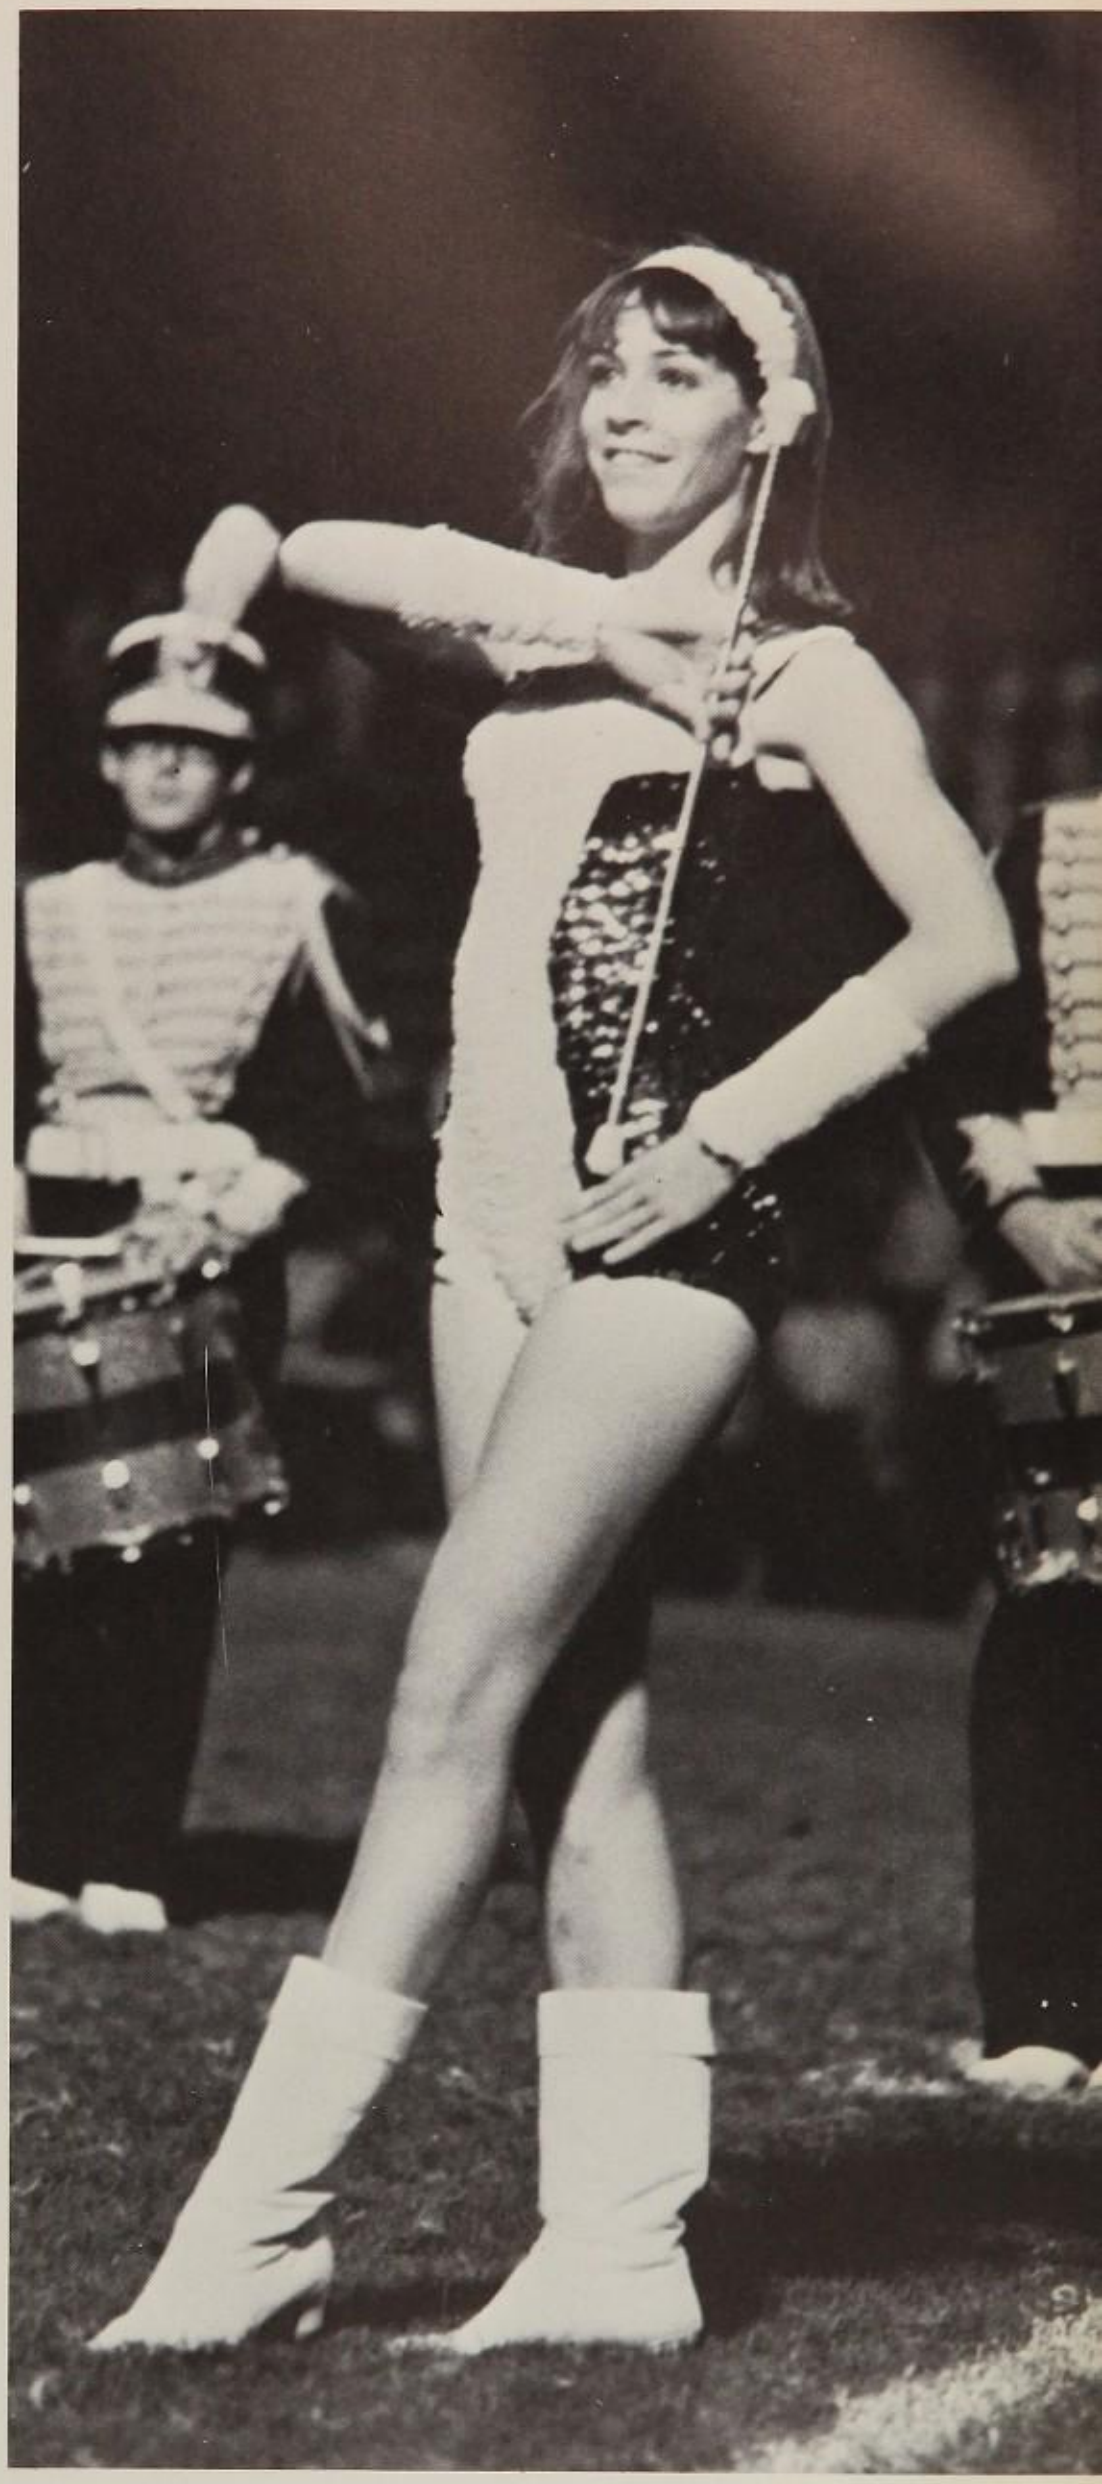
The blinding lights and whirring cameras—
BBC interviews . . .
More lights and tripping over cables—
at Saturday Hop . . .

And can we forget the lights
at the football games?

There were the club teas . . .

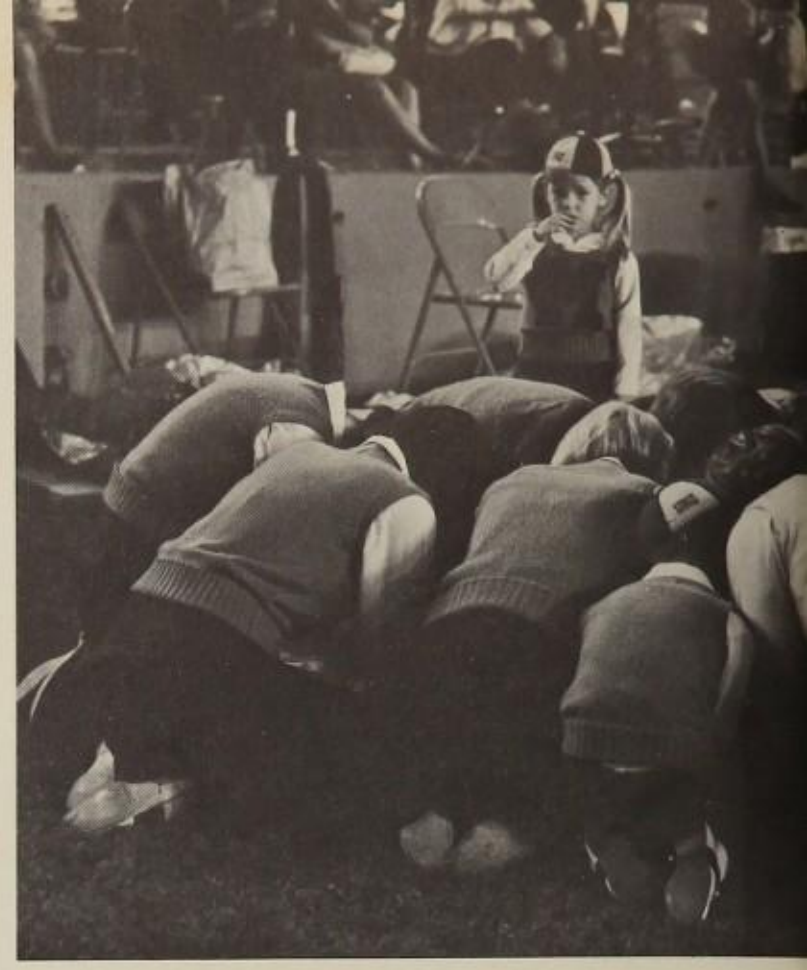
Oh, yes! There was also an election.

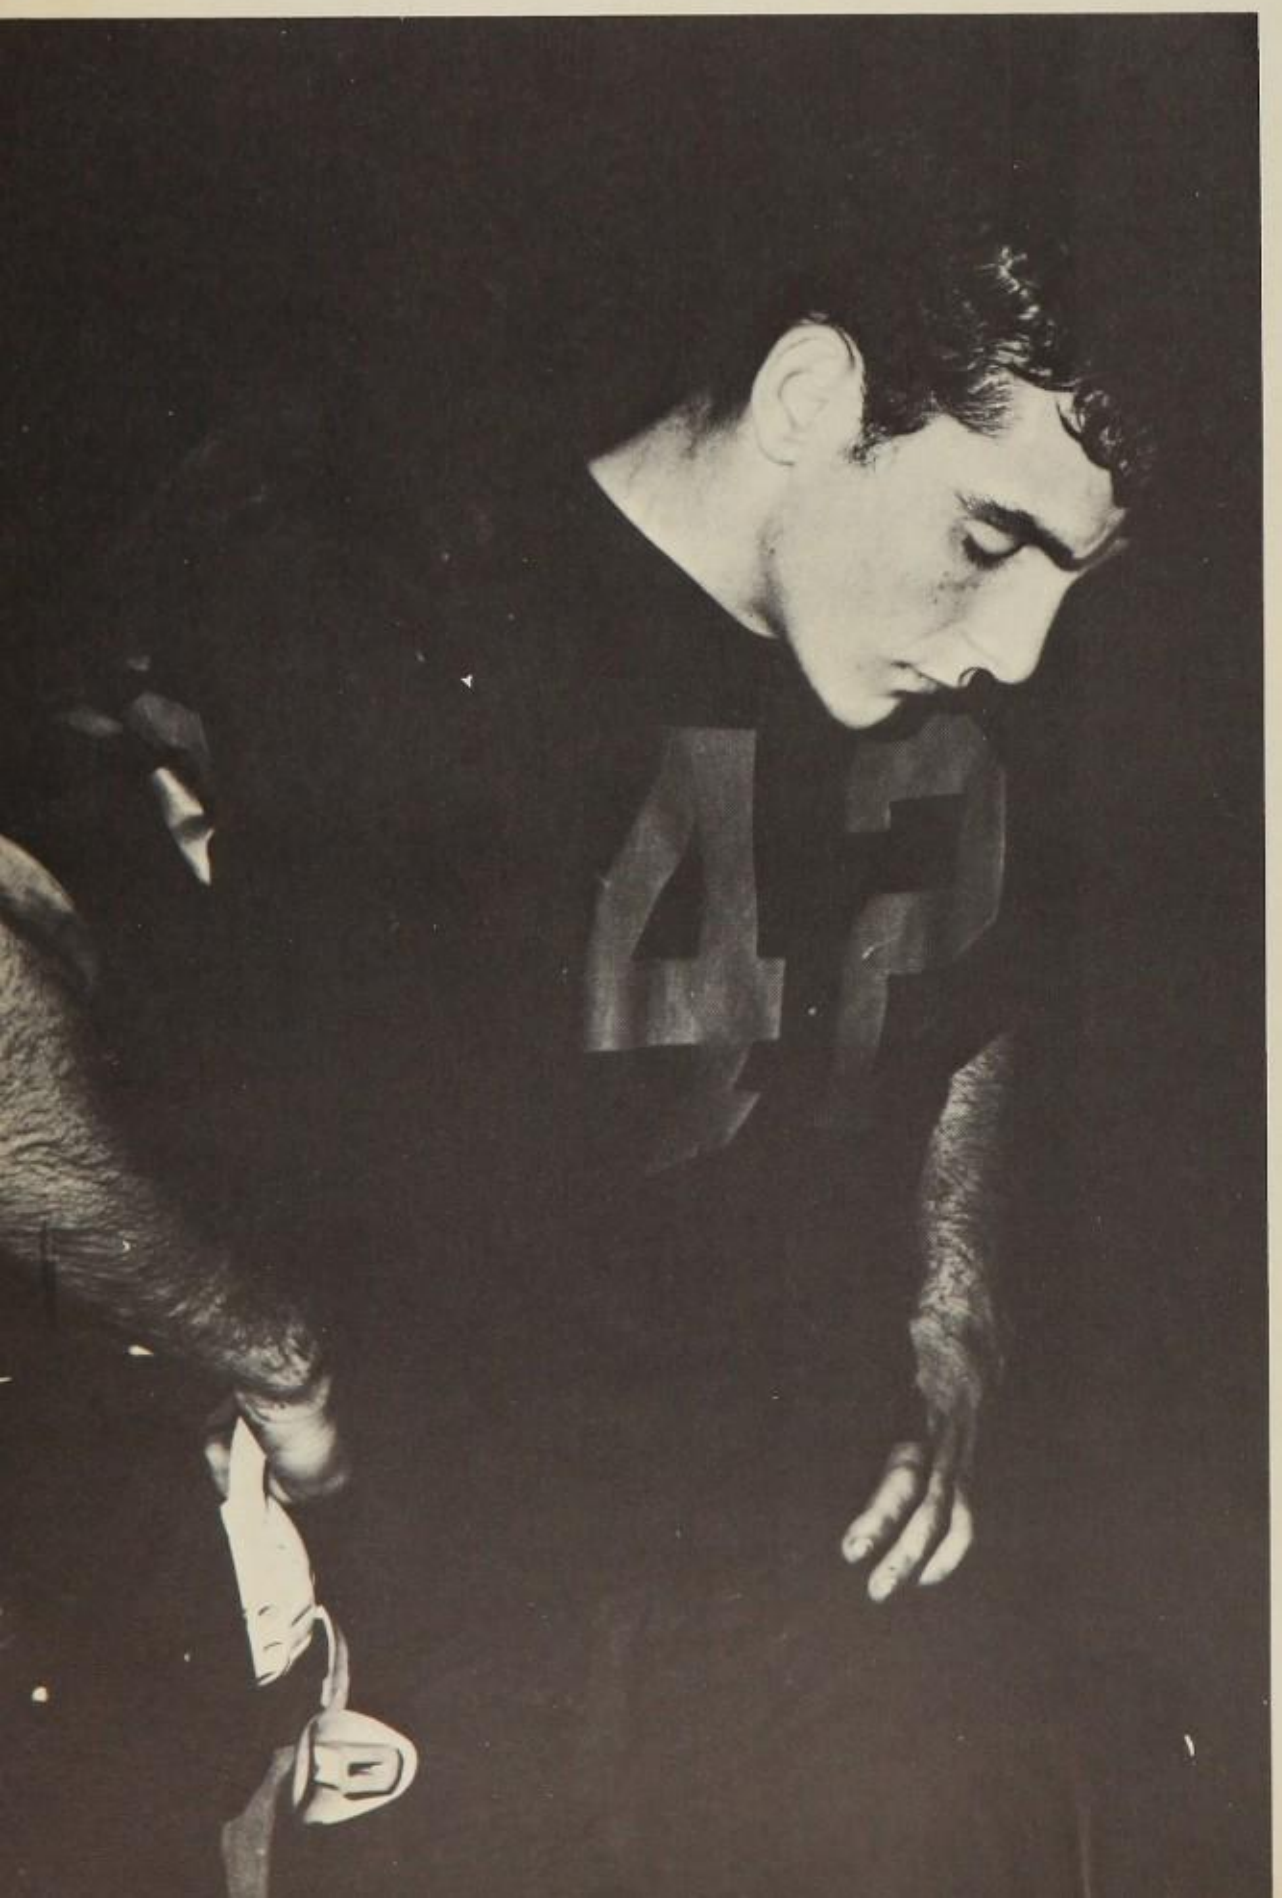
WALLACE for PRESIDENT
STAND UP FOR AMERICA

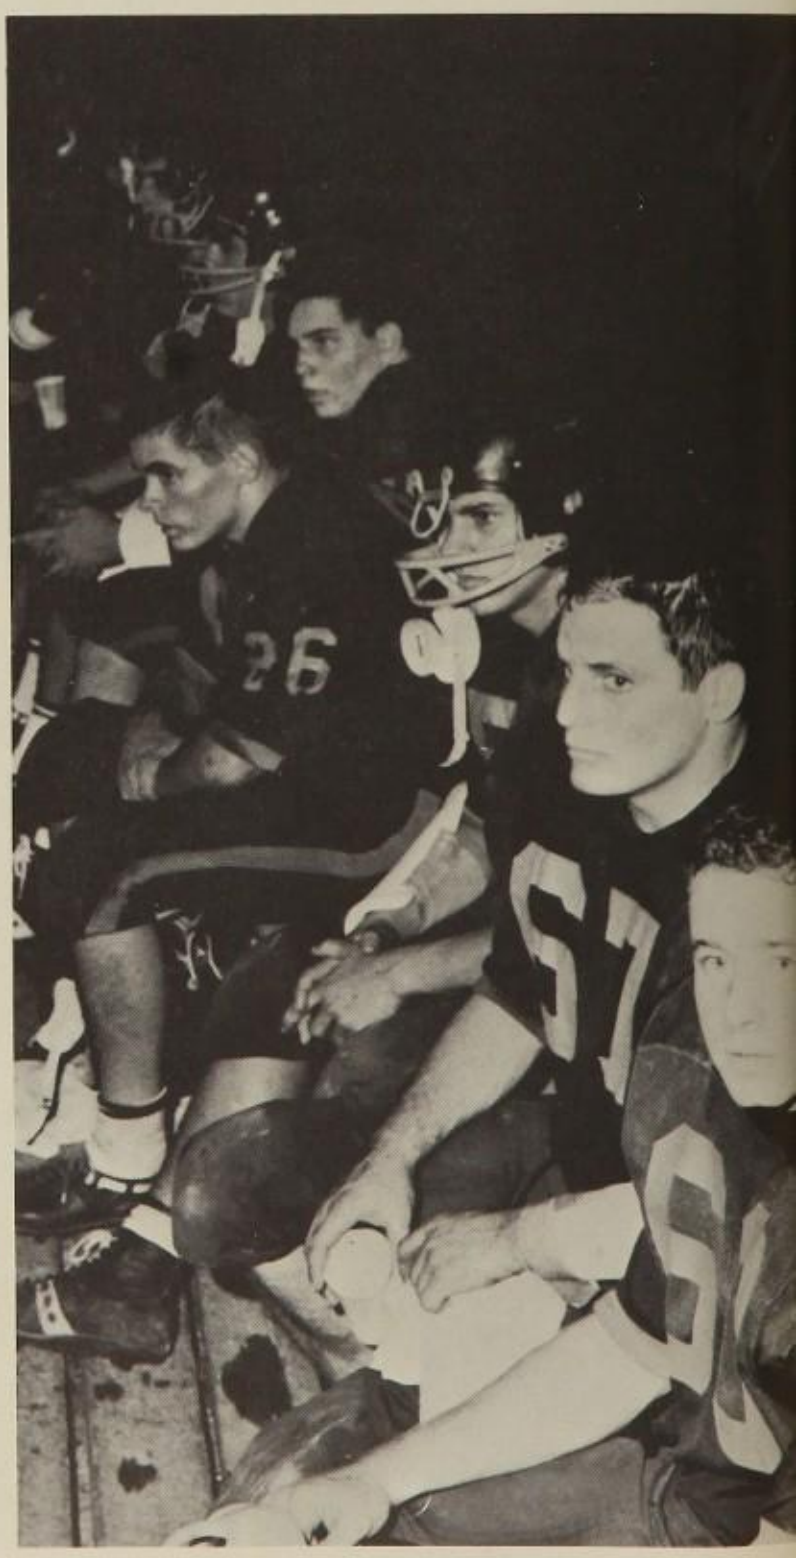


ROLLING

Now we're on our way
The big season is here and gone
Cheers fill stadiums
And hope fills hearts.
Trying is not enough
Now it's a matter of winning.
The season came and the season went
Trying just wasn't enough.







MUG THE GENERALS
MIAMI HIGH IN 28 YEARS

REFLECTIONS

A long football season was finally over.
Attention slowly crept away
from the players
And surrounded Lorna and John
And it was a time for rejoicing.

A long year was finally over.
A Christmas assembly in black and white
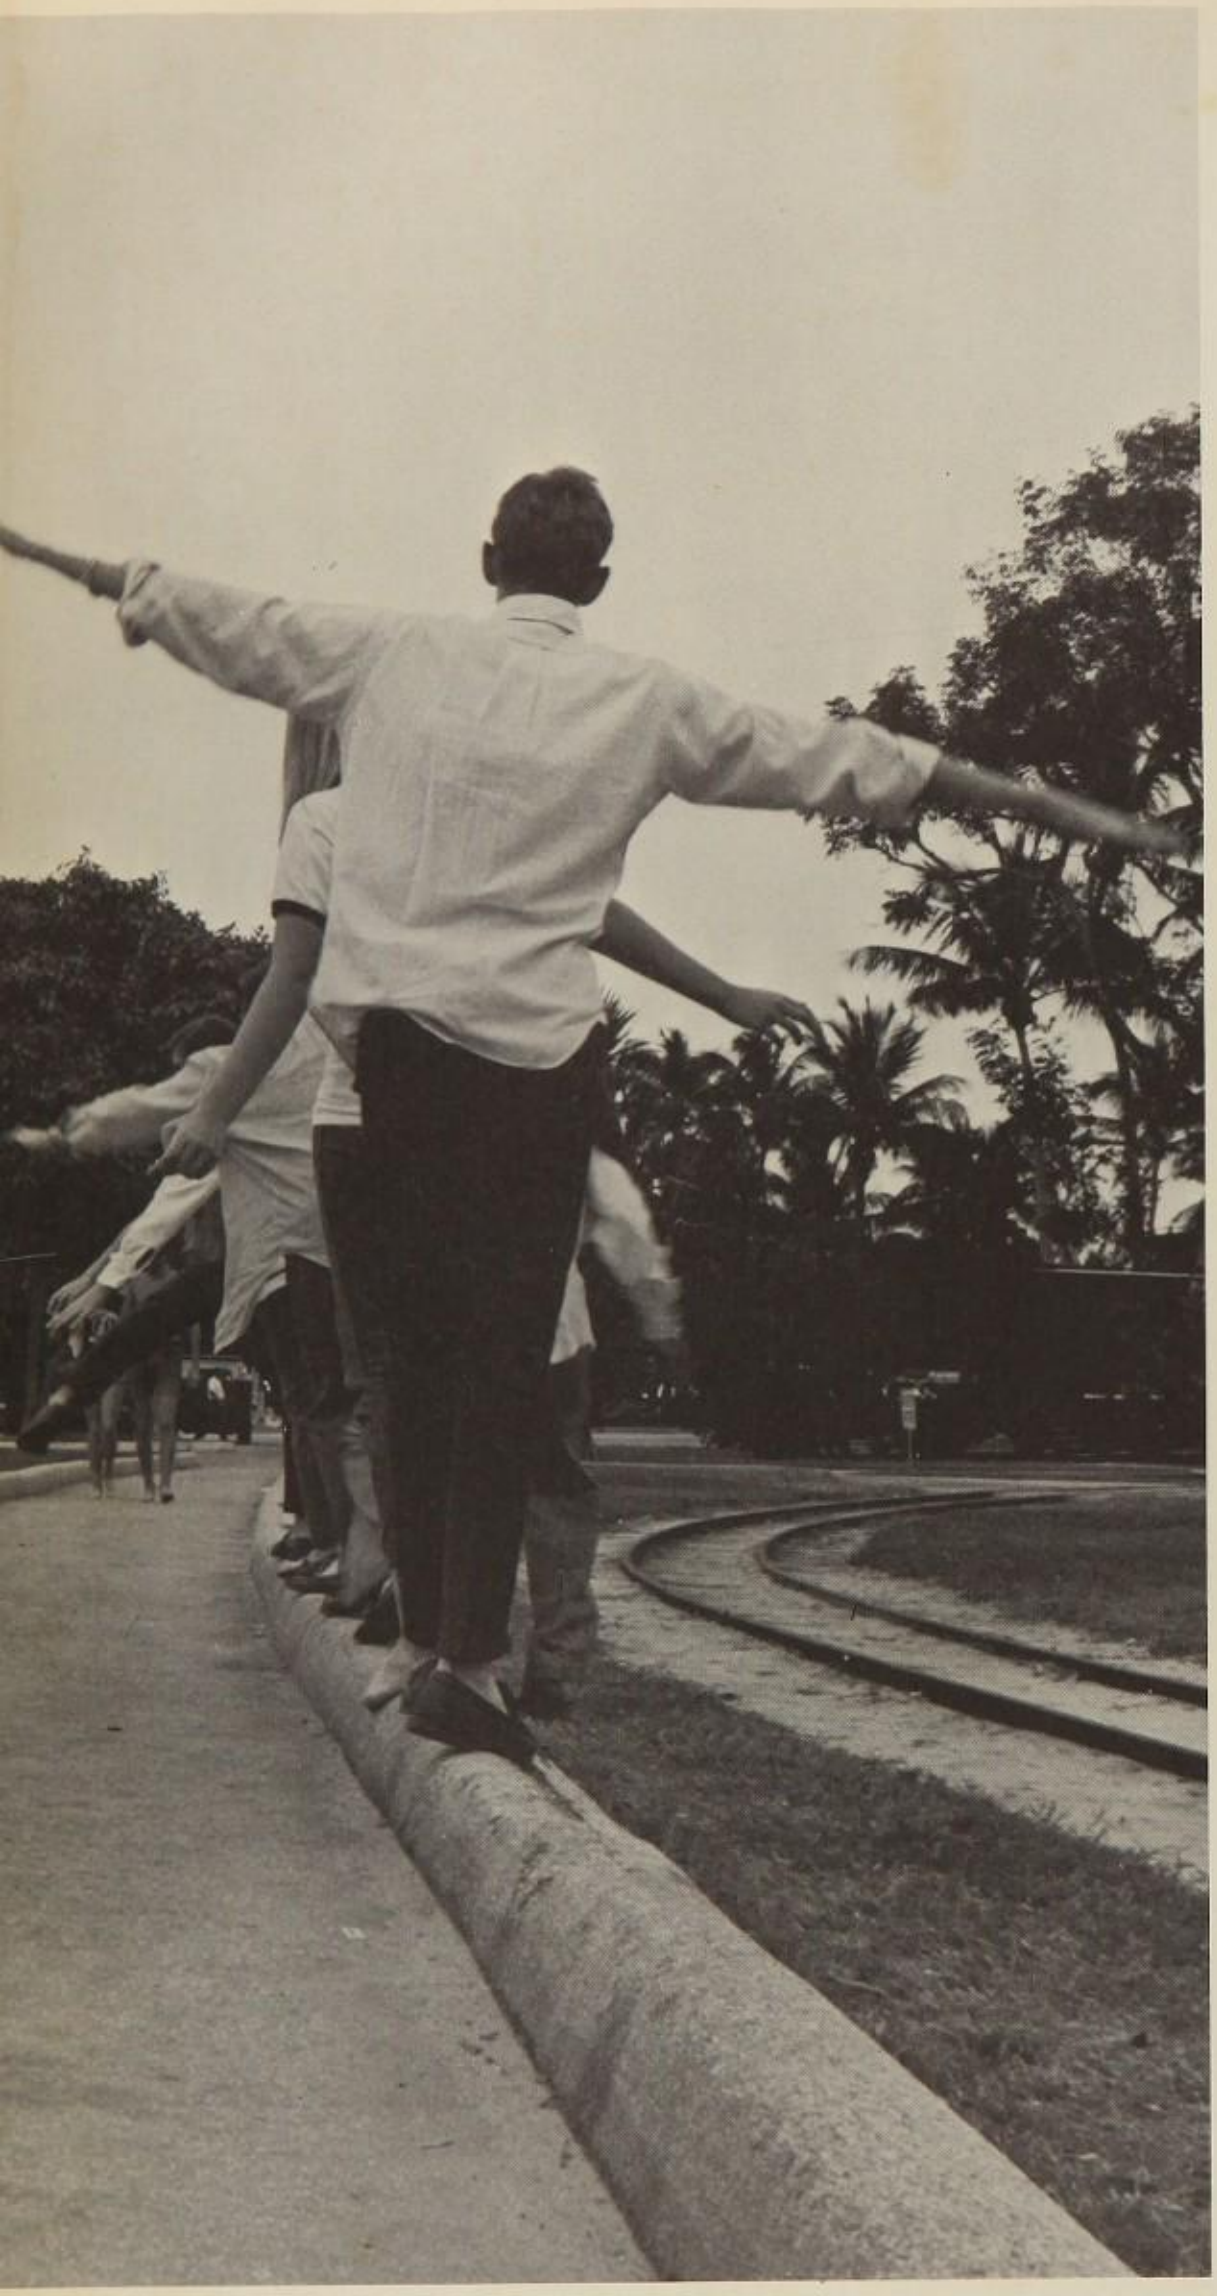
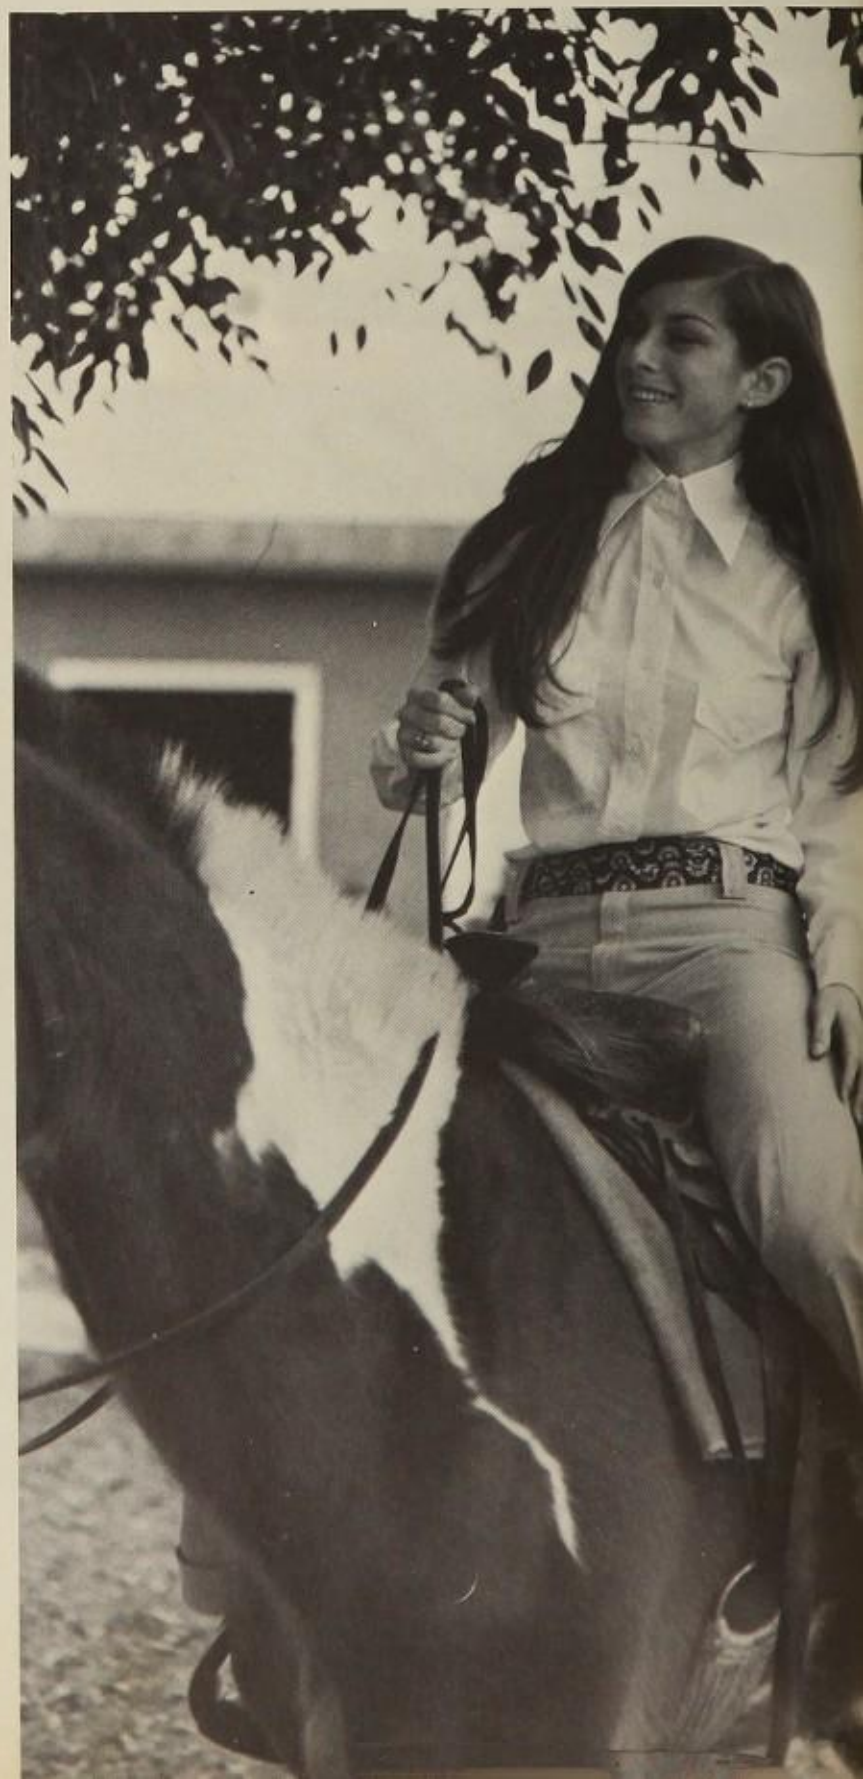
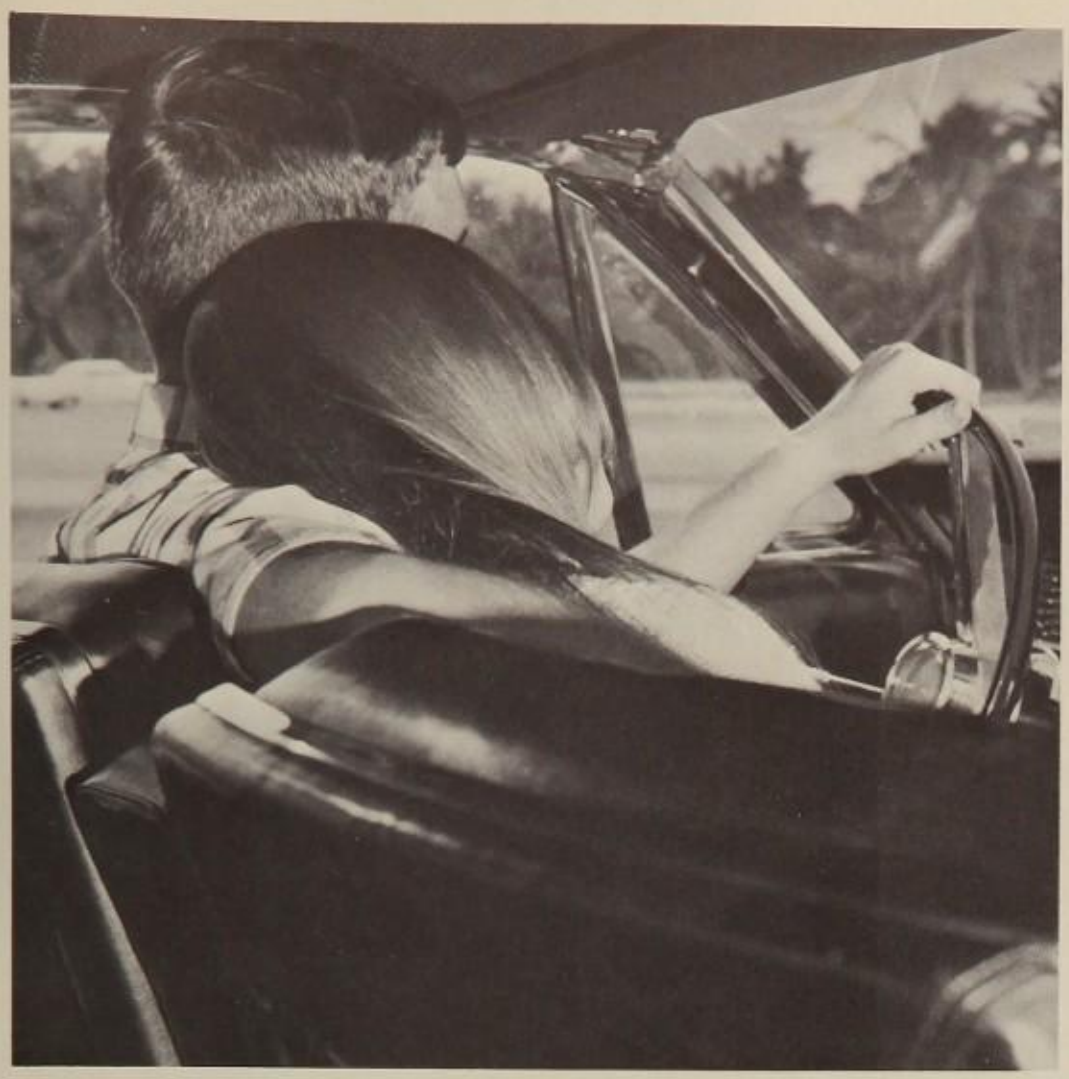
Accentuated the mood
And it was a time for pausing.

But it didn't impress our mascot . . .



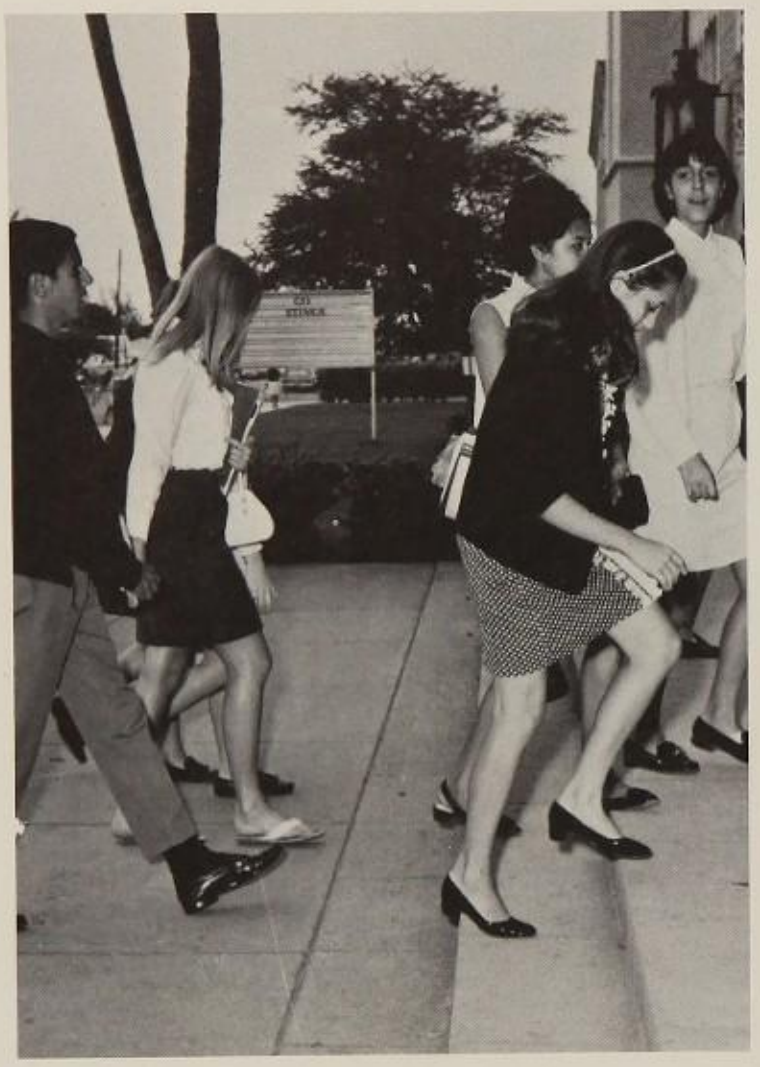


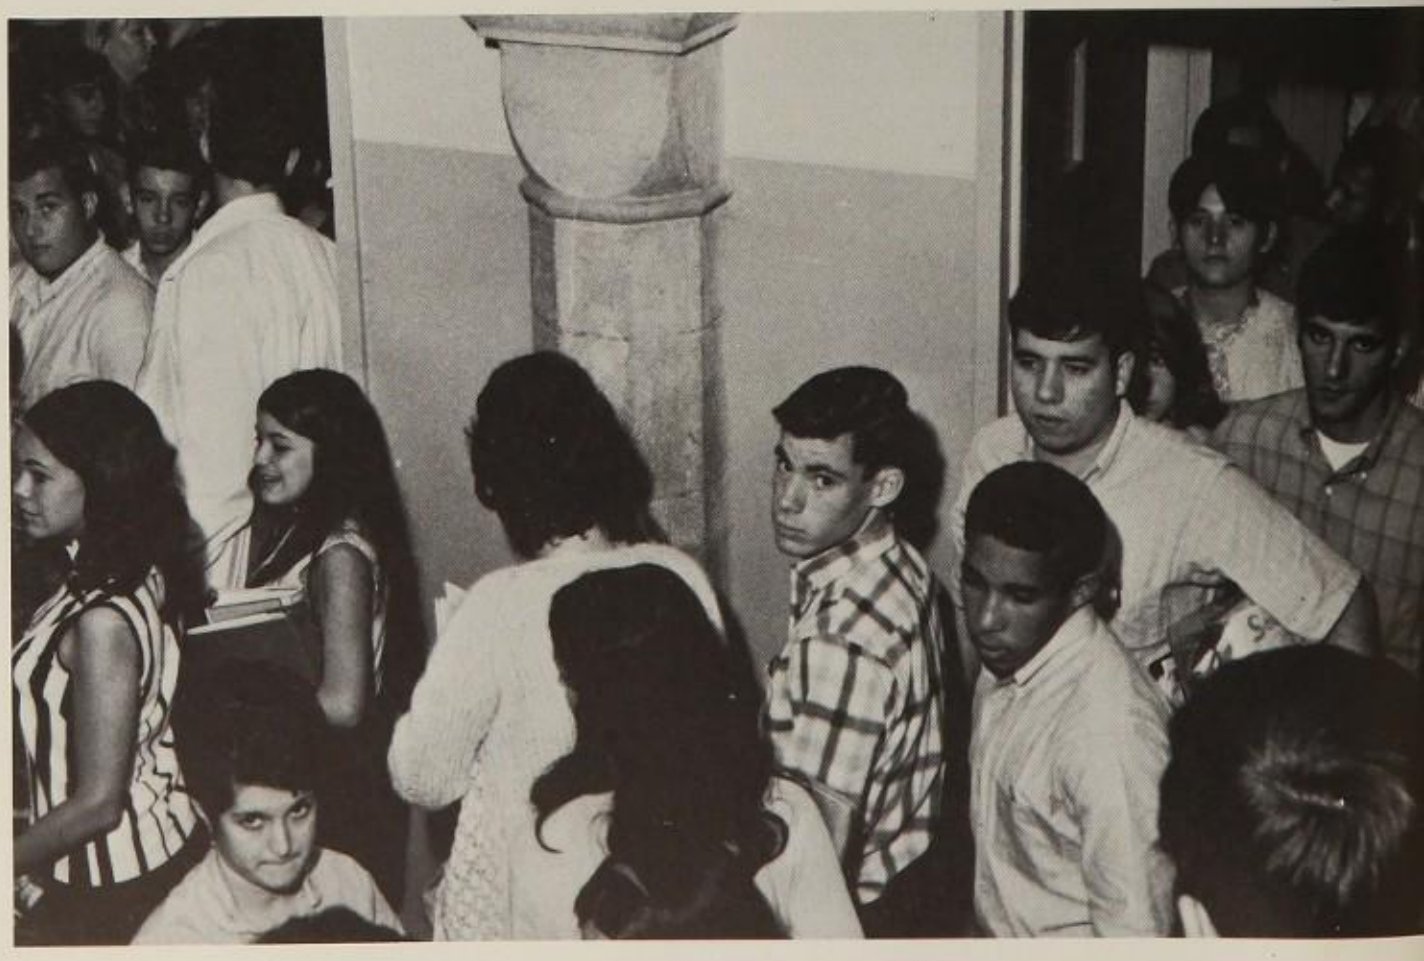


INTERMISSION

An ode to Christmas vacation

I'm late,
I'm late
For a very important date.
No time to say Hello-Goodbye
I'm late
I'm late
I'm late!





RETURN

We reappeared
and so did teachers . . .
We didn't change
and neither did they.

Crowds came back, same empty faces
Back to take up where they left off
Dances were held at identical places
Nothing had changed except the songs.

68 turned to 69
and we adapted to the drastic change.

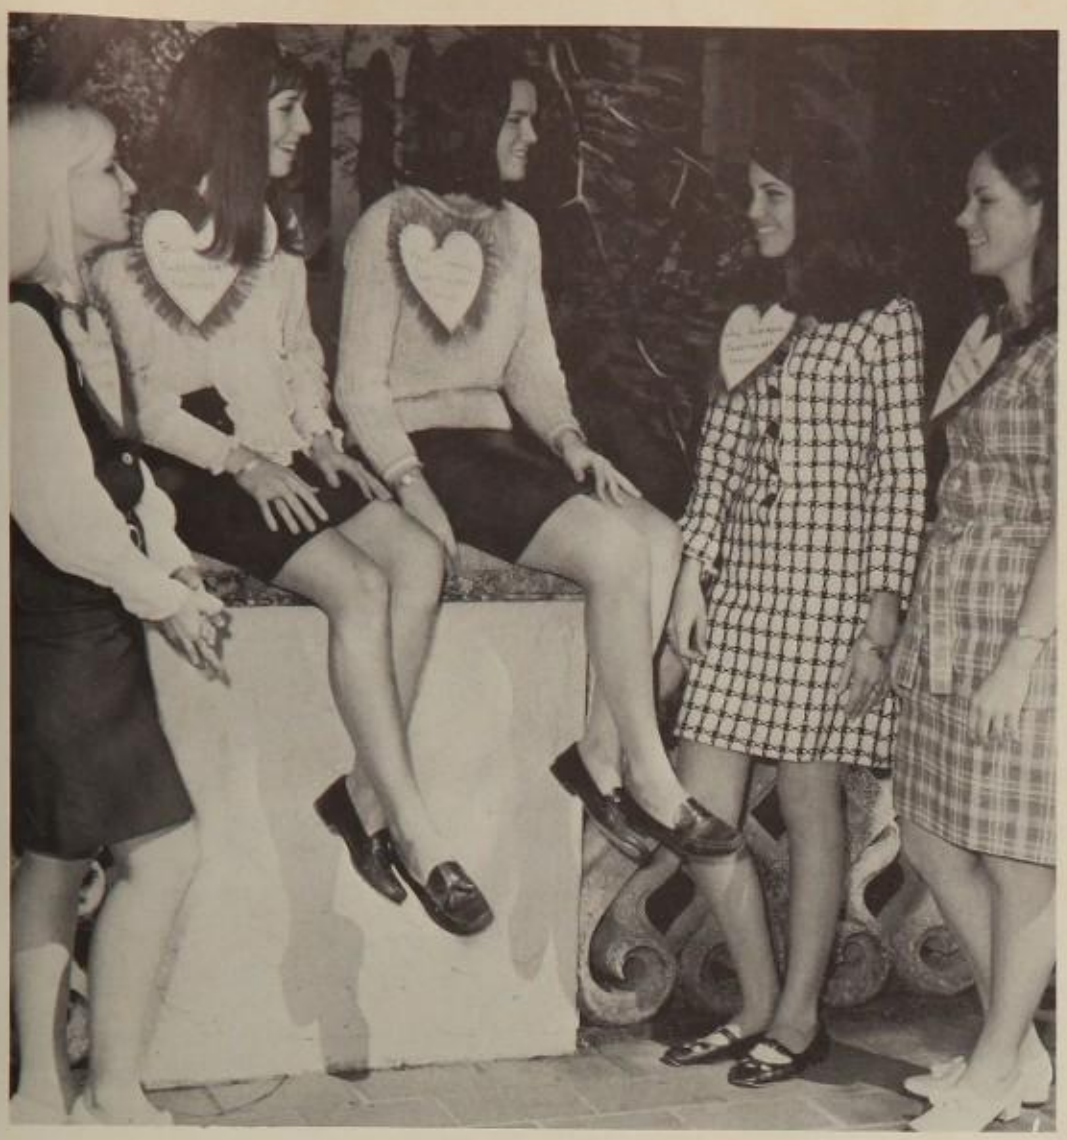
40



INVOLVEMENT

Senioritis struck
College applications were in Transcripts were in
And seniors knew whether they were in or out.

Nothing could be changed except our atmosphere
So we turned away
from facts and figures.

The new semester was to be enjoyed:
basketball, baseball
Sweethearts, Valentines . . .
And the yearbook kept busy taking it all in.

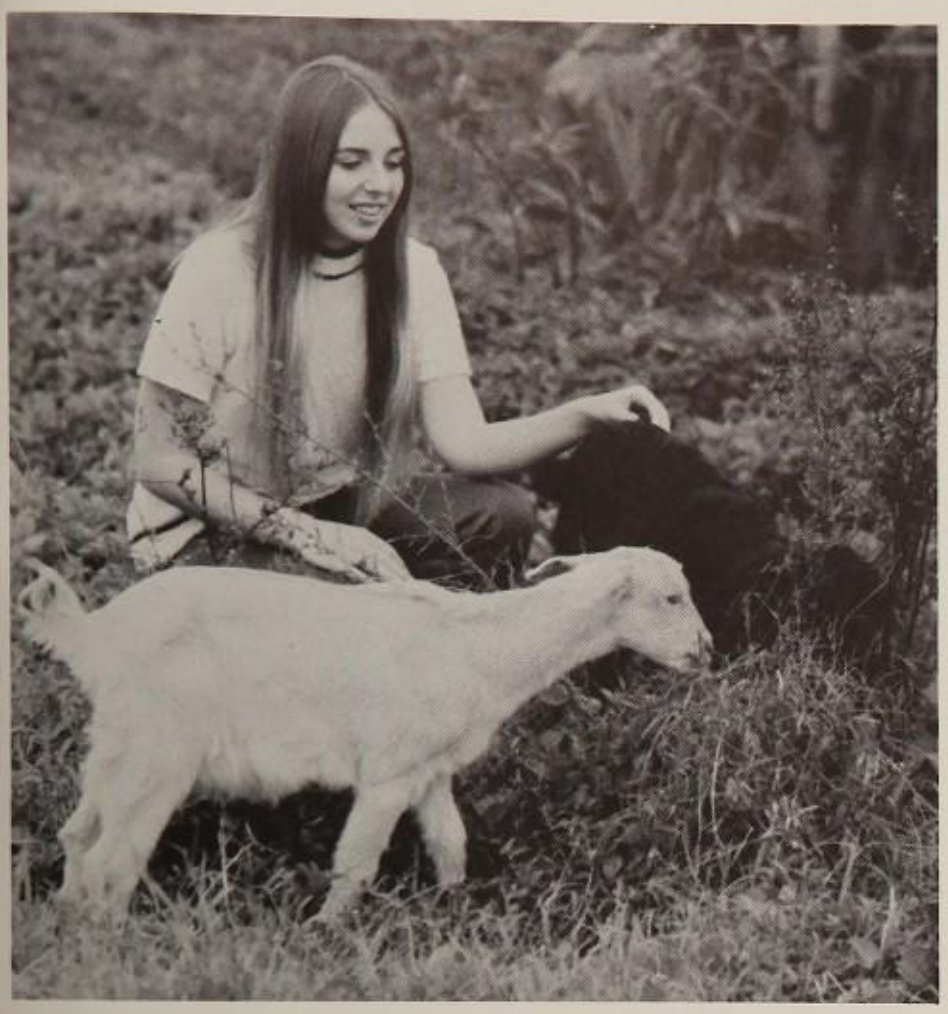
GRUB
IN



ENDEAVORS

Winners came in like lions
And losers went out like lambs.

Everyone was on trial
For seniors it was a matter of acting—
For juniors and sophomores, it was a matter of acceptance.

AFTERTHOUGHT

Turn around,
it's all behind you.

Think back
to the formals,
and the picnics,
and the mad whirls of May and June—
They have ended.

Strangely,
there are no regrets—
It's over . . .
. . . and you are happy.

Face it, kid,
You passed.
Now take your memories and move on.

CURRICULUM

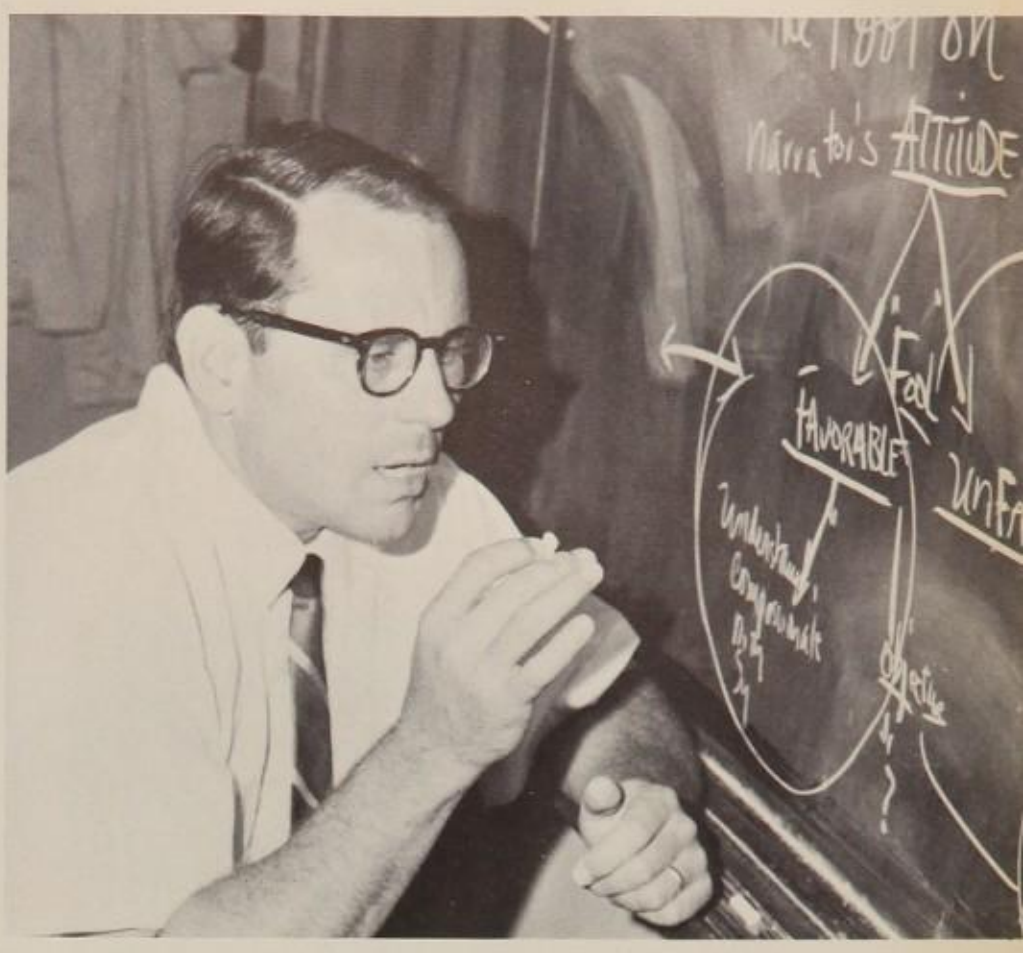
Dedication

HERE'S TO YOU, MR. MARLEY . . .

What makes the difference between a teacher and an educator? Perhaps it is the ability to inspire one's students to develop their potential. Perhaps it is the willingness to use new methods, to try different approaches. Perhaps it is just daring to be different.

An educator must have a dynamic personality: he must be a leader that pulls rather than pushes; he must be understanding and flexible while maintaining high standards; he must establish the closest of bonds with his students. An educator must be thoroughly learned, and his mind always one step ahead.

This is what makes the difference between an educator and a teacher, and the 1969 MIAHI is proud to honor Mr. Eugene Marley for making that difference.



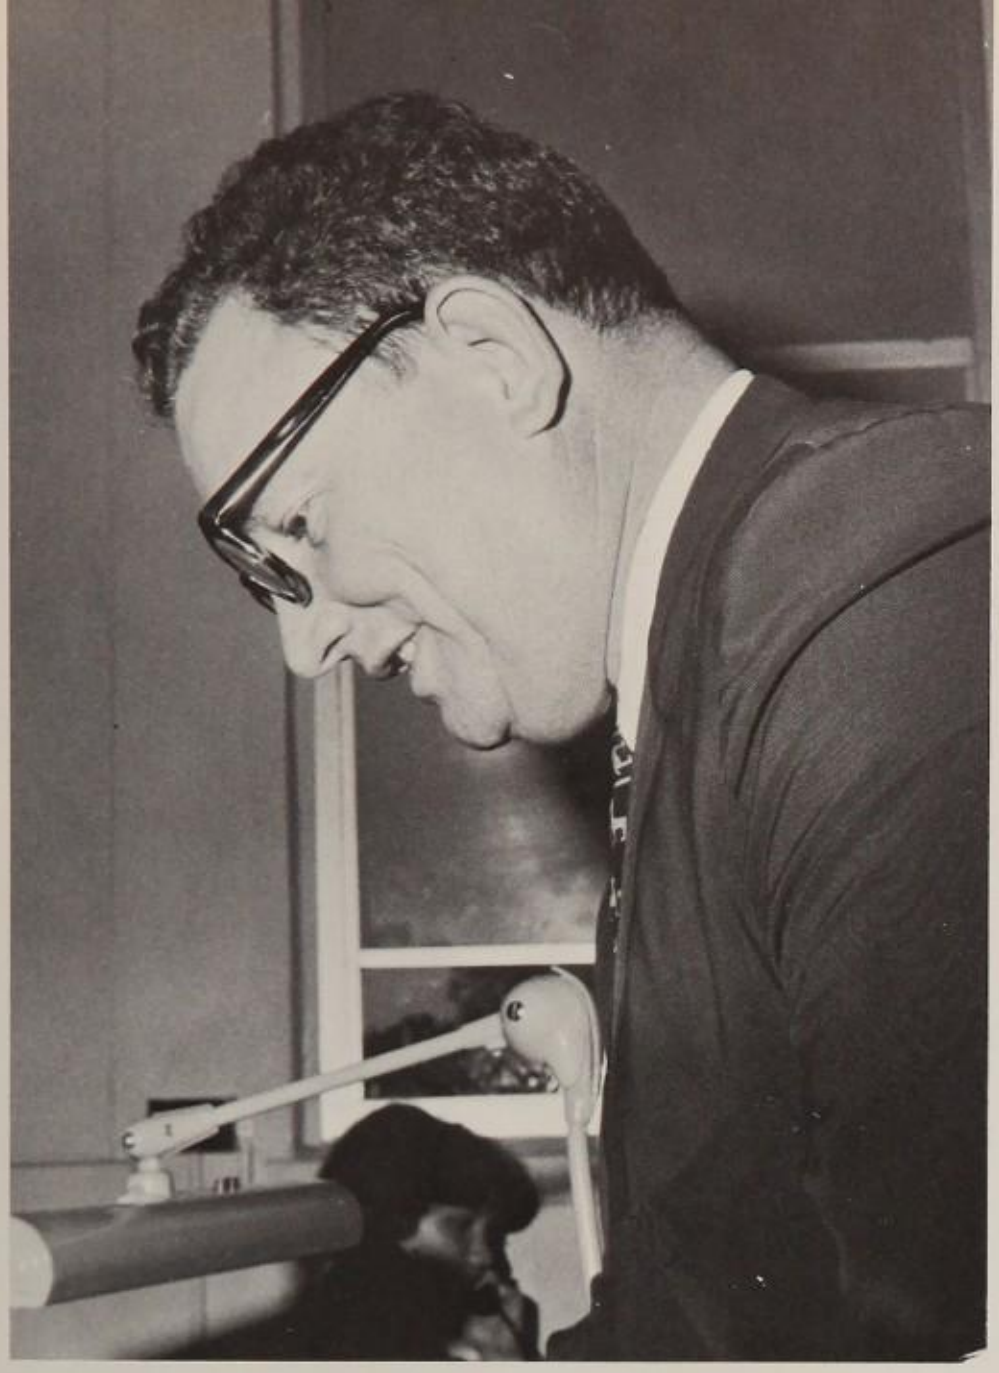
ATTITUDE
FAVORABLE

Curtis M. Knowles, Principal

TAKE US TO OUR LEADER

During his fourth year as principal of Miami Senior High School, Mr. Curtis M. Knowles continued to display an active interest in both faculty and students. This year was an exceptionally trying one for him and for Miami High due to the all-important accreditation and evaluation. However, Mr. Knowles faced the year's obstacles with his usual industry and determination.

Miami High is proud to have Mr. Knowles as its principal.



FAR LEFT Mr. Knowles addresses student body. (left) There's always time for a laugh in the hectic life of a school principal. (right) The job of head administrator includes much red tape and paper work. BOTTOM (left) Foul weather cannot dampen our principal's interest in school activities. (right) "Hey, everybody!"

Assistant Principals

MR. KNOWLES HAS FOUR RIGHT ARMS

Guided by principal Curtis Knowles, the various administrators of Miami High worked through the department heads. Mr. Randolph Spreen, Assistant Principal for Administration, maintained discipline and was genuinely interested in the students at MHS. The Assistant Principal for Curriculum, Mrs. Agnes DuBois, co-ordinated the multitudinous course offerings available. Miss Annie Leigh Rollins, as Assistant Principal for Guidance, was responsible for the effective functioning of the guidance department. Our Assistant Principal for Vocational Curriculum, Mr. Michael Coughlan, had as his specific concern the maintenance of the vocational program at Miami High.

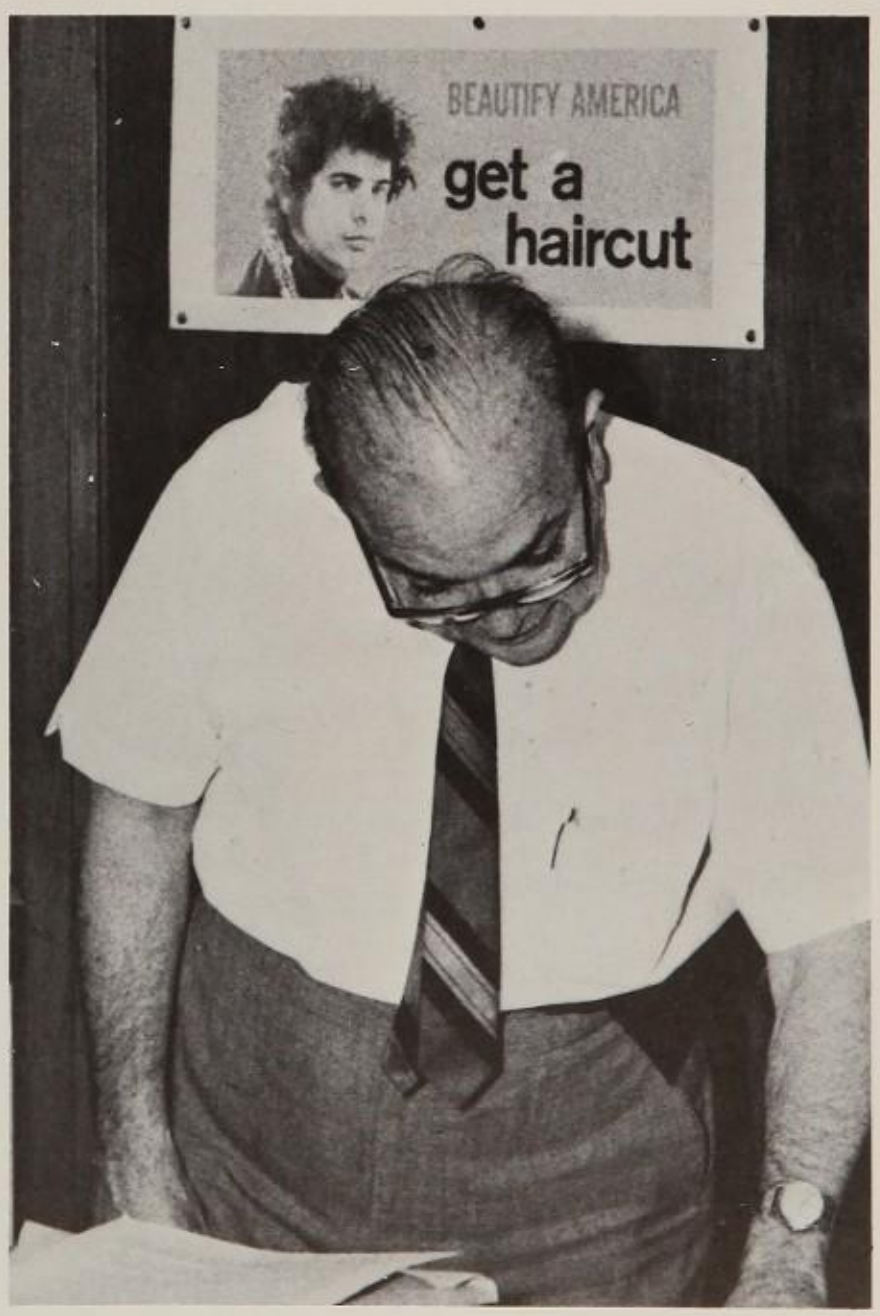
EIGHT PAGES OF FLU VICTIMS?

In order to free our administrators to pursue their policy-making roles, our office personnel assumed the task of handling all the paperwork involved in the management of a school as large as Miami High. This year the job was divided between two separate offices: the registrar and attendance. In the near future, it is hoped that MHS will have a unified office performing such diverse services as reporting attendance, tallying class loads, handling transcripts, and keeping track of students.



TOP In the office two heads were always better than one. LOWER LEFT Mrs. Shephard tended to administrative duties. RIGHT Office staff members practiced what they preached.

THE NIGHT PEOPLE

The human mind seldom stops learning and no one knows this better than the administration and faculty of Miami High's night school program.

Innumerable courses were offered including high school courses for non-graduate and general self improvement courses. The latter included homemaking, trade extension courses, pre-employment training, plus a variety of courses designed for specific areas of business activity such as real estate, insurance, export-import, and financing a small business.

Since its beginning in 1958, enrollment has increased from 700 to 4,000, and courses offered have increased from twenty-seven to sixty-four.

READ A GOOD BOOK LATELY?

This year the library struggled to make students aware of the facilities available to them and at the same time increase circulation. To achieve this they went all out to attract students—selling required paperbacks, increasing selection of books, and making a photo copier available to students.

Among the more widely used facilities in the library were the listening center where language students could supplement their regular class studies with additional materials and the audio visual room, supervised by Mr. Barker, where movies and other teaching aids were obtained by our faculty members.

The library staff worked to improve facilities and aid students in their search for knowledge.

Services

THEY TRY HARDER

From keeping the rest rooms clean to trimming the foliage, each one of our nineteen custodians had a specific task to perform, seven and a half hours a day, five days a week.

Mr. James Reynolds, Mr. George Pearson, and their men, working in three shifts around the clock, took care of every detail that made our building an efficient learning environment.

The cafeteria served more than 1,250 lunches daily, a task which required the services of nine full time employees and nineteen part time helpers. Mrs. Anne Croucher, the manager and her assistant, Mrs. Pauline Heauning planned daily menus for a school of more than 4,000 students.

TOP George Pearson took a brief rest from his many duties. BOTTOM A cafeteria worker diligently prepared our "delicious" lunch.

Business Education

From using shorthand to operating complicated business machines, from typing a friendly letter to drafting a contract, if it has anything to do with the business world, the business department teaches it. This year, in addition to the usual courses in typing, shorthand, and business machines, the department offered courses in business law, business English, and business math.

RING-A-DING-DING

The department also co-ordinated the Co-Operative Business Education Program, in which students gained on-the- job experience.

For the college-bound students, the department offered personal typing, and shorthand, each taking one semester.

Guidance

TELL IT LIKE IT IS

The Guidance Department aims to serve the student body in helping them meet both their academic and social needs. Enjoying the friendly atmosphere, students come to discuss their problems and future plans.

The counselors play an important part in the functioning of the school by synthesizing the student's abilities and interests into a plan for his future.

College-bound students find an unlimited amount of helpful information available to help them make that important choice of school.

Students not planning on continuing their education after high school may use the school's job placement service.

Miami High's English department, the largest English department in the South, went through a systems revolution this year. Team teaching was introduced and the multi-media approach to teaching became popular with several teachers.

Phasing was extensively used, and students were placed in classes ranging from English S, designed to meet the needs of newly-arrived Spanish-speaking students, to Advanced Placement English, which gave outstanding seniors the opportunity to combine their high school senior and college freshman courses into one year of work.

In addition to the required English courses, the department offered a variety of electives in journalism, creative writing, world literature, speech, debate, and drama.

ENGLISH SELDOM SPOKEN HERE

For many departments this was a year to search for new methods, but the foreign language department had been changing old concepts for years in its efforts to create an individualized program for each of its students. During the past three years, Miami High sponsored an experimental program offering French to the Spanish-speaking students.

Students were offered two years of Latin, three years of German, five of French, and five years of Spanish. In addition, Spanish VS, another first this year, was offered to students who desired to learn various aspects of Cuban culture. Under this program, visiting professors from the University of Miami lectured on Cuban history, art, and custom.

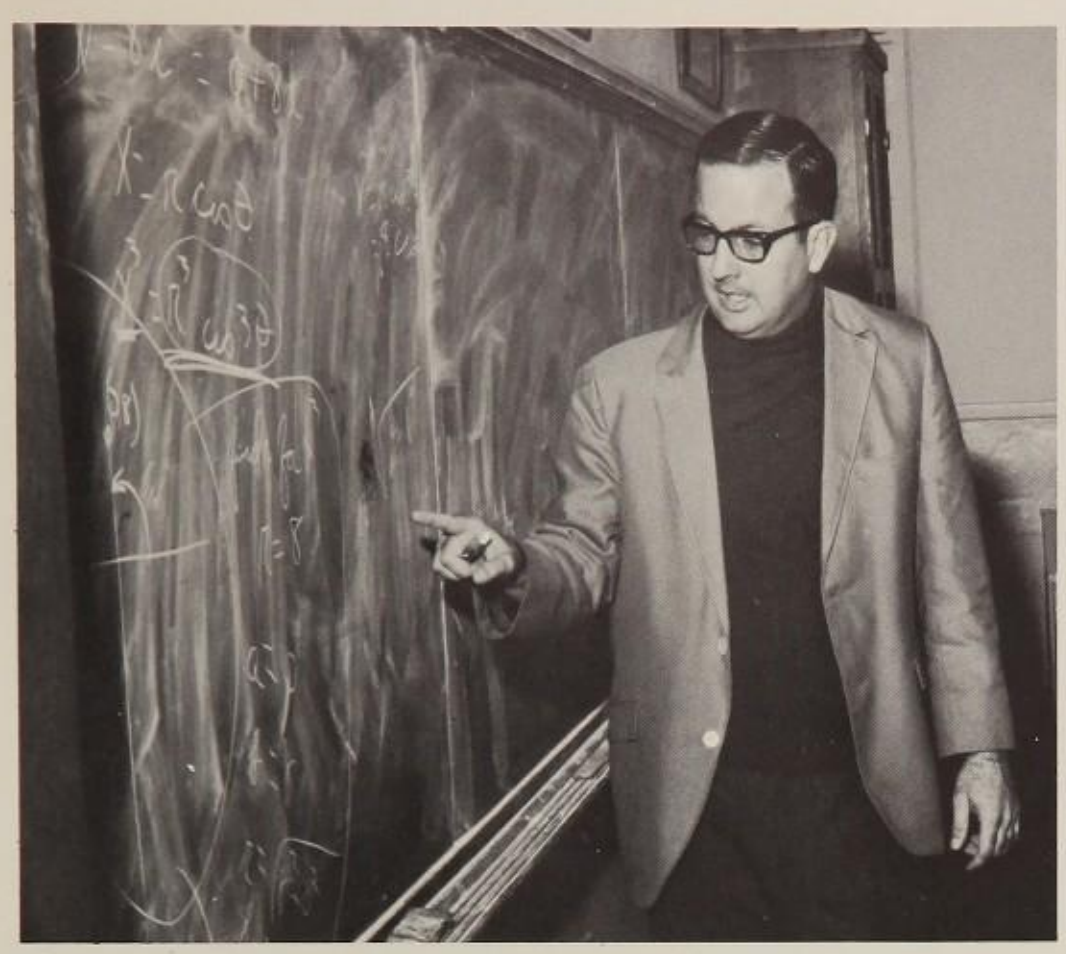
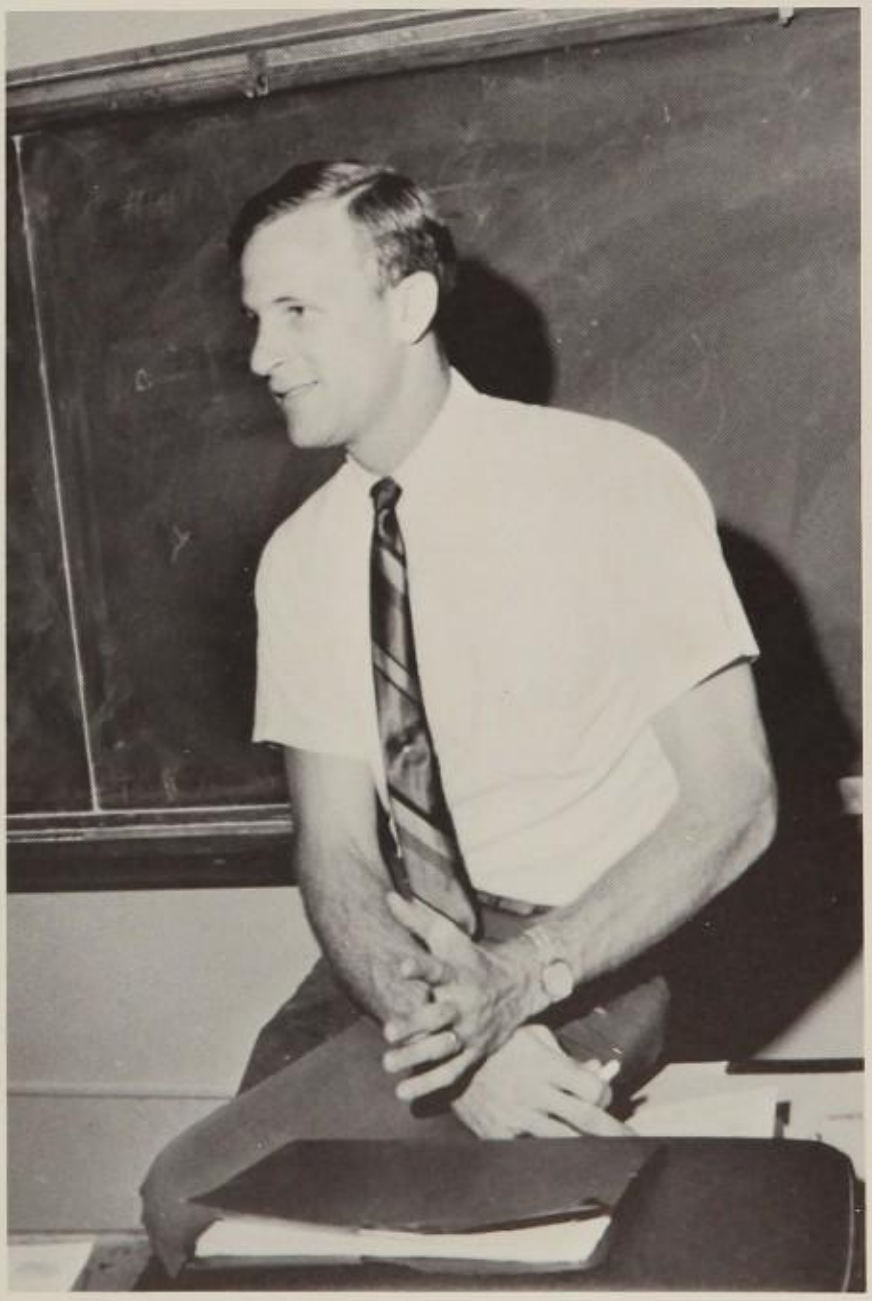
Mathematics

PIE ARE SQUARE



Careful screening and phasing, team teaching, advanced placement and deep acceleration—new techniques and programs which helped to create a more challenging and productive atmosphere for almost 3,000 students. For the third year, General Math was phased into three levels. This pilot program, developed at Miami High, was adopted by other schools two years ago. To relieve the overcrowded conditions, team teaching was incorporated into the General Math program.

In order to meet the interests of every student, the department offered courses designed to teach the fundamentals of mathematics to those who did not plan to enter college. For the college-bound, the department offered Trigonometry-Analytic Geometry and Math Analysis. For the gifted student, there was the advanced placement Calculus program, a college-level course offering differential and integral calculus. There was also a Deep Accelerated Math program, under which a student could take Calculus and six additional college-level courses between his seventh and twelfth grades. This program gave the student the equivalent of a minor in mathematics.



Wish a lot of luck next year. Maria Rovoa

Physical Education

RUN HOW MANY LAPS?

Though hampered by overcrowded facilities, the physical education department succeeded in maintaining the high standard set by the President's council on youth fitness. This diversified department gave students the opportunity to participate in touch football, volleyball, flickerball, softball, bowling, track and field, basketball, and gymnastics.

The physical education department also organized the varsity sports of football, basketball, gymnastics, bowling, track, tennis, swimming, and golf. This year for the first time, Miami High had a girls' varsity swimming team.

Intramural sports played a vital role in the programs of this department. All sports offered in the regular physical education curriculum were extended into the intramural program.

ALCHEMY FOR FUN AND PROFIT

One of Miami High's most progressive departments, the science department offered courses ranging from biology to lab research. Since all students had to take biology to meet graduation requirements, this course had the largest enrollment. After biology, students were able to choose from a curriculum which included Chemistry I and II, Chem Study, Physics, Physical Science, Physiology, Marine Biology, and Laboratory Research. Only six students were chosen to take part in the lab research program, which placed them in industrial and research laboratories throughout South Florida.

Social Studies

FEUDALISM IS NOT A FAMILY FIGHT

The Social Studies department carried with it the heaviest responsibility of the school system: to give our youth a sense of direction in a complex world, to make sure that coming generations will not repeat the errors of the past, and to insure wide participation in government.

The department achieved this with two required courses: American History and U.S. Government and Economics, plus elective courses ranging from geography to sociology.

Elective Programs

ELECTIVITY?

The citizen of tomorrow must not only be proficient in his trade, but also appreciative of the arts. MHS rose to meet the challenge with its much-diversified Elective Arts program, which included courses in the fields of music, art, workshop, drafting, and drama. These courses not only satisfied the individual's interests, but in many cases prepared them for future employment.

The vocational educational department attempted to train its students in specific industrial skills. Its graduates received regular high school diplomas and vocational certificates for their particular craft. In follow-up studies of the 1968 graduates, 45% went on to college, 25% went into the occupation they were trained for, 15% joined the armed forces, and 15% went into occupations related to their skills.

Students were trained in two-year programs in industrial laboratories. Their instructors were trained by industry specifically for teaching their particular subject. Some of the major vocational courses included auto mechanics, cosmetology, commercial art, and electronics.

MIAMI HIGH FOOTBALL:
The End of an Era

Webster defines football as, "a game played between two teams of eleven players each in which the ball is in possession of one side at a time and is advanced by running or passing". At Miami High High it means much more than Mr. Webster accounts for. It means 43 years of tradition and prestige, 43 years as the number one football power in Dade County. For the first time in these 43 years Miami High had a losing season. Arm-chair quarterbacks find it easy to place the blame on undeserving shoulders. Many hold the coach responsible, others the quarterback, and still other critics attribute it to the administration. The truth of the matter is Miami High was outclassed by most of the teams they played this year. The players discovered that putting on the blue and gold uniforms did not automatically guarantee a victory. After the loss to Mays, the Blue and Gold failed to strike fear in the hearts of its opponents. The team learned that all the tradition in the world does not help you out in the field. Instead it takes ability, guts, and perseverance. This year's squad unquestionably had the latter two qualities, and for this reason they are still number one in the eyes of their school.

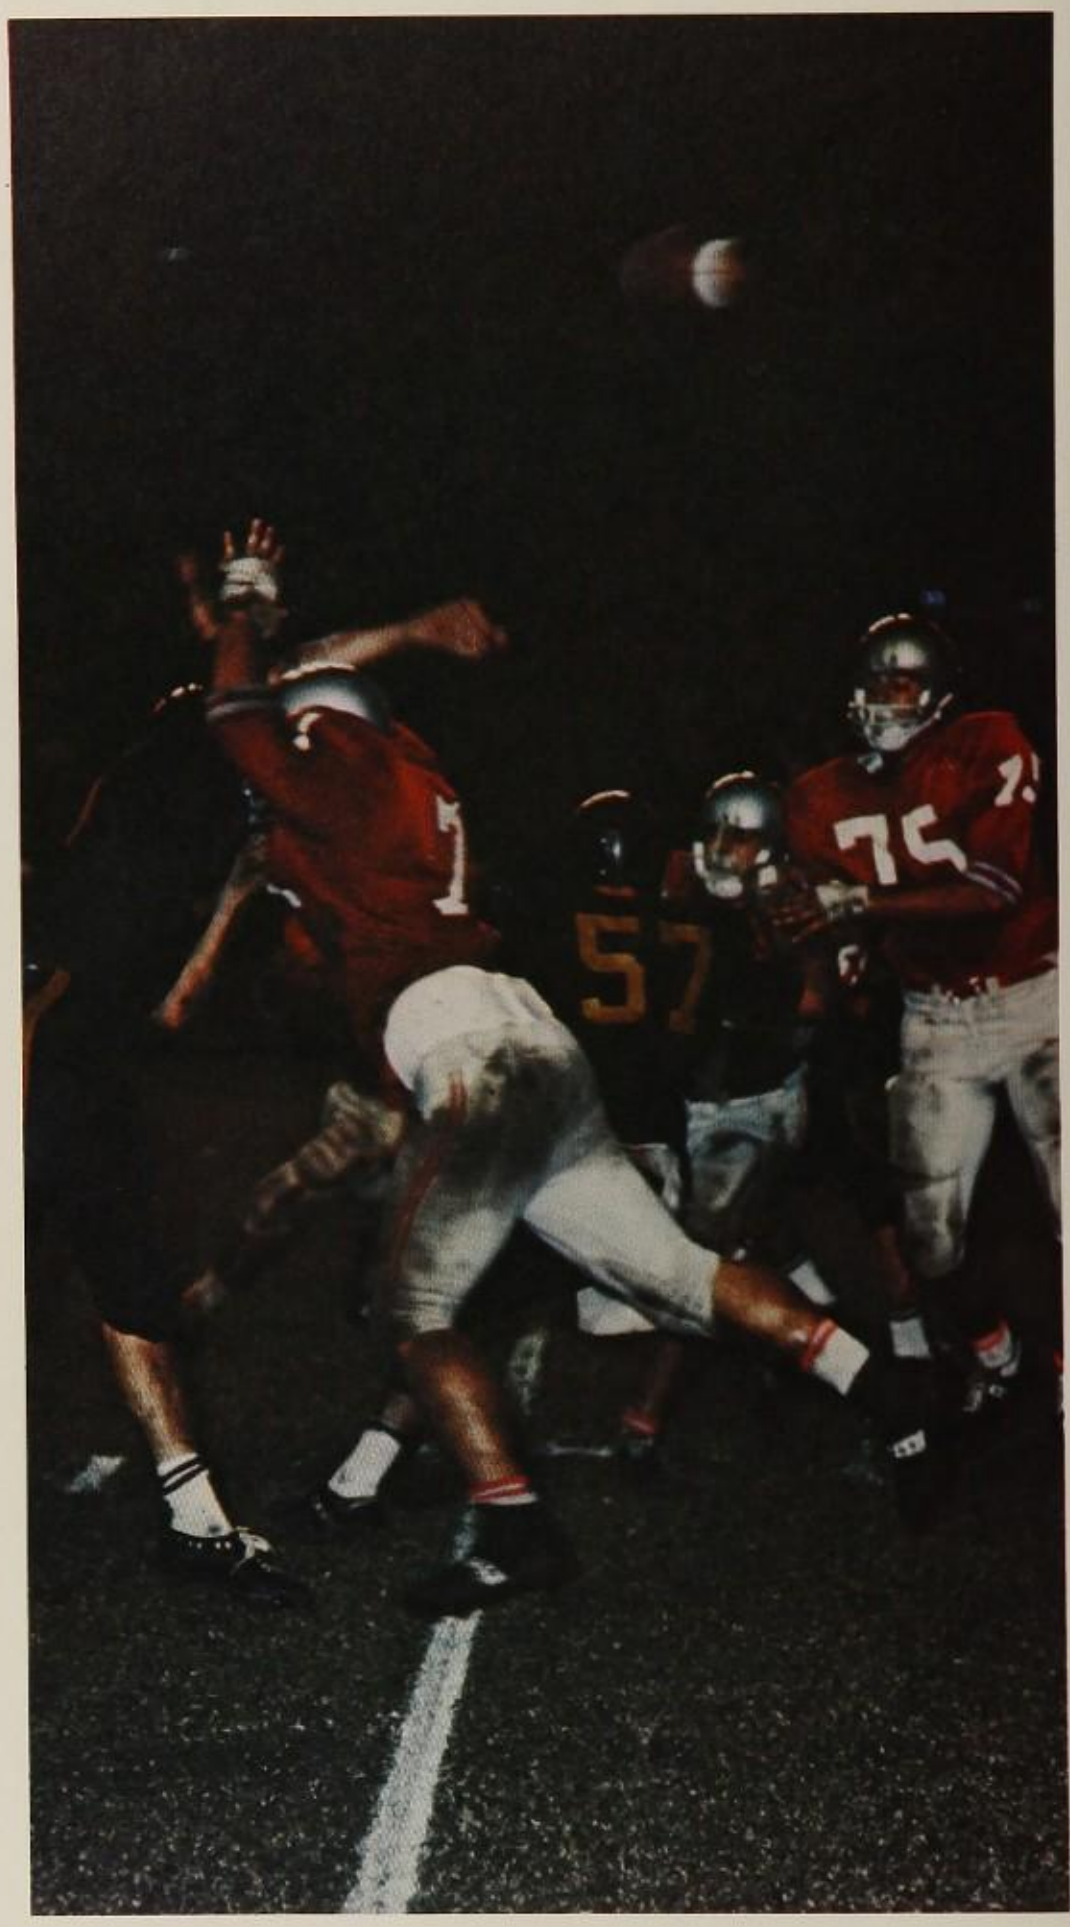
THE QUARTERBACK

The offensive attack is centered around the quarterback. He must catalyze the team's effort into a smooth and efficient attack. This calls not only for individual athletic ability, but also for leadership, for if a quarterback loses the support of the team, he will not survive.

David possessed enough of this leadership to make an inexperienced line give him the protection to complete over 50% of his pass attempts.

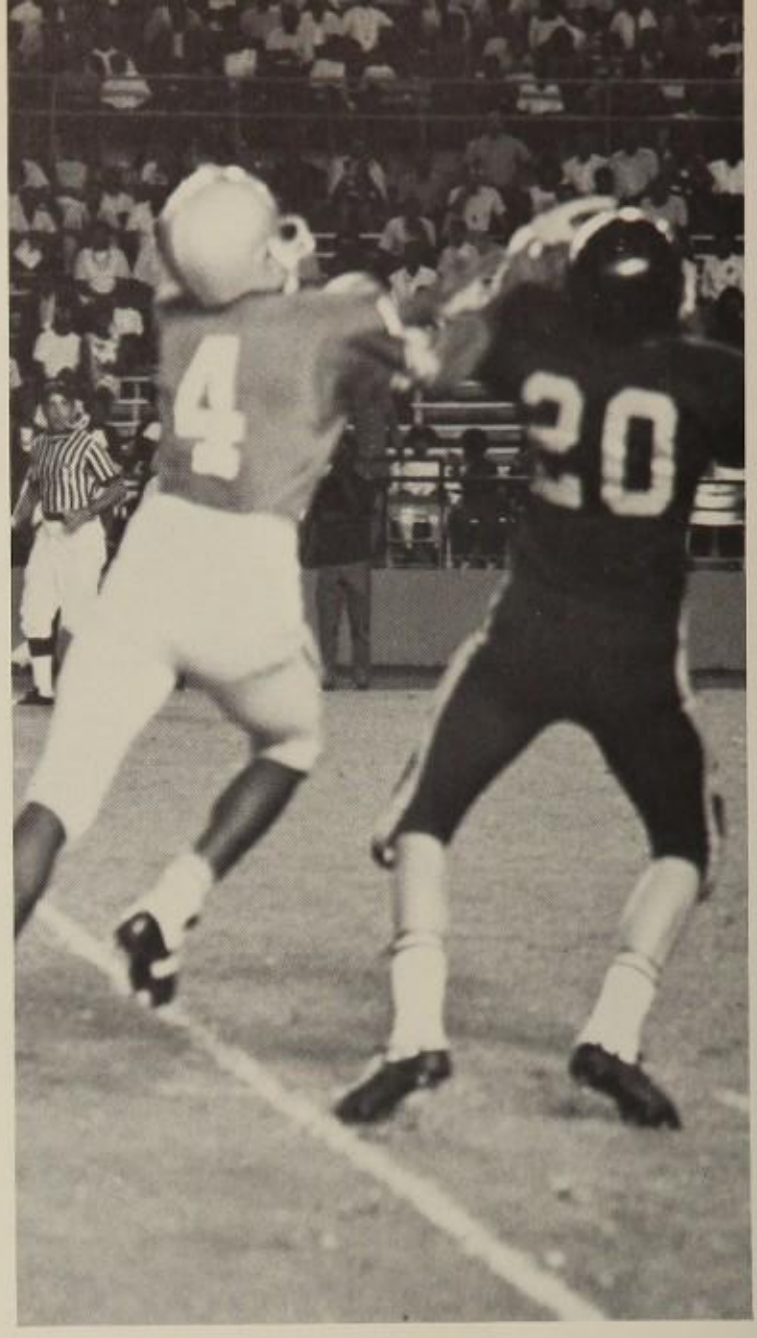


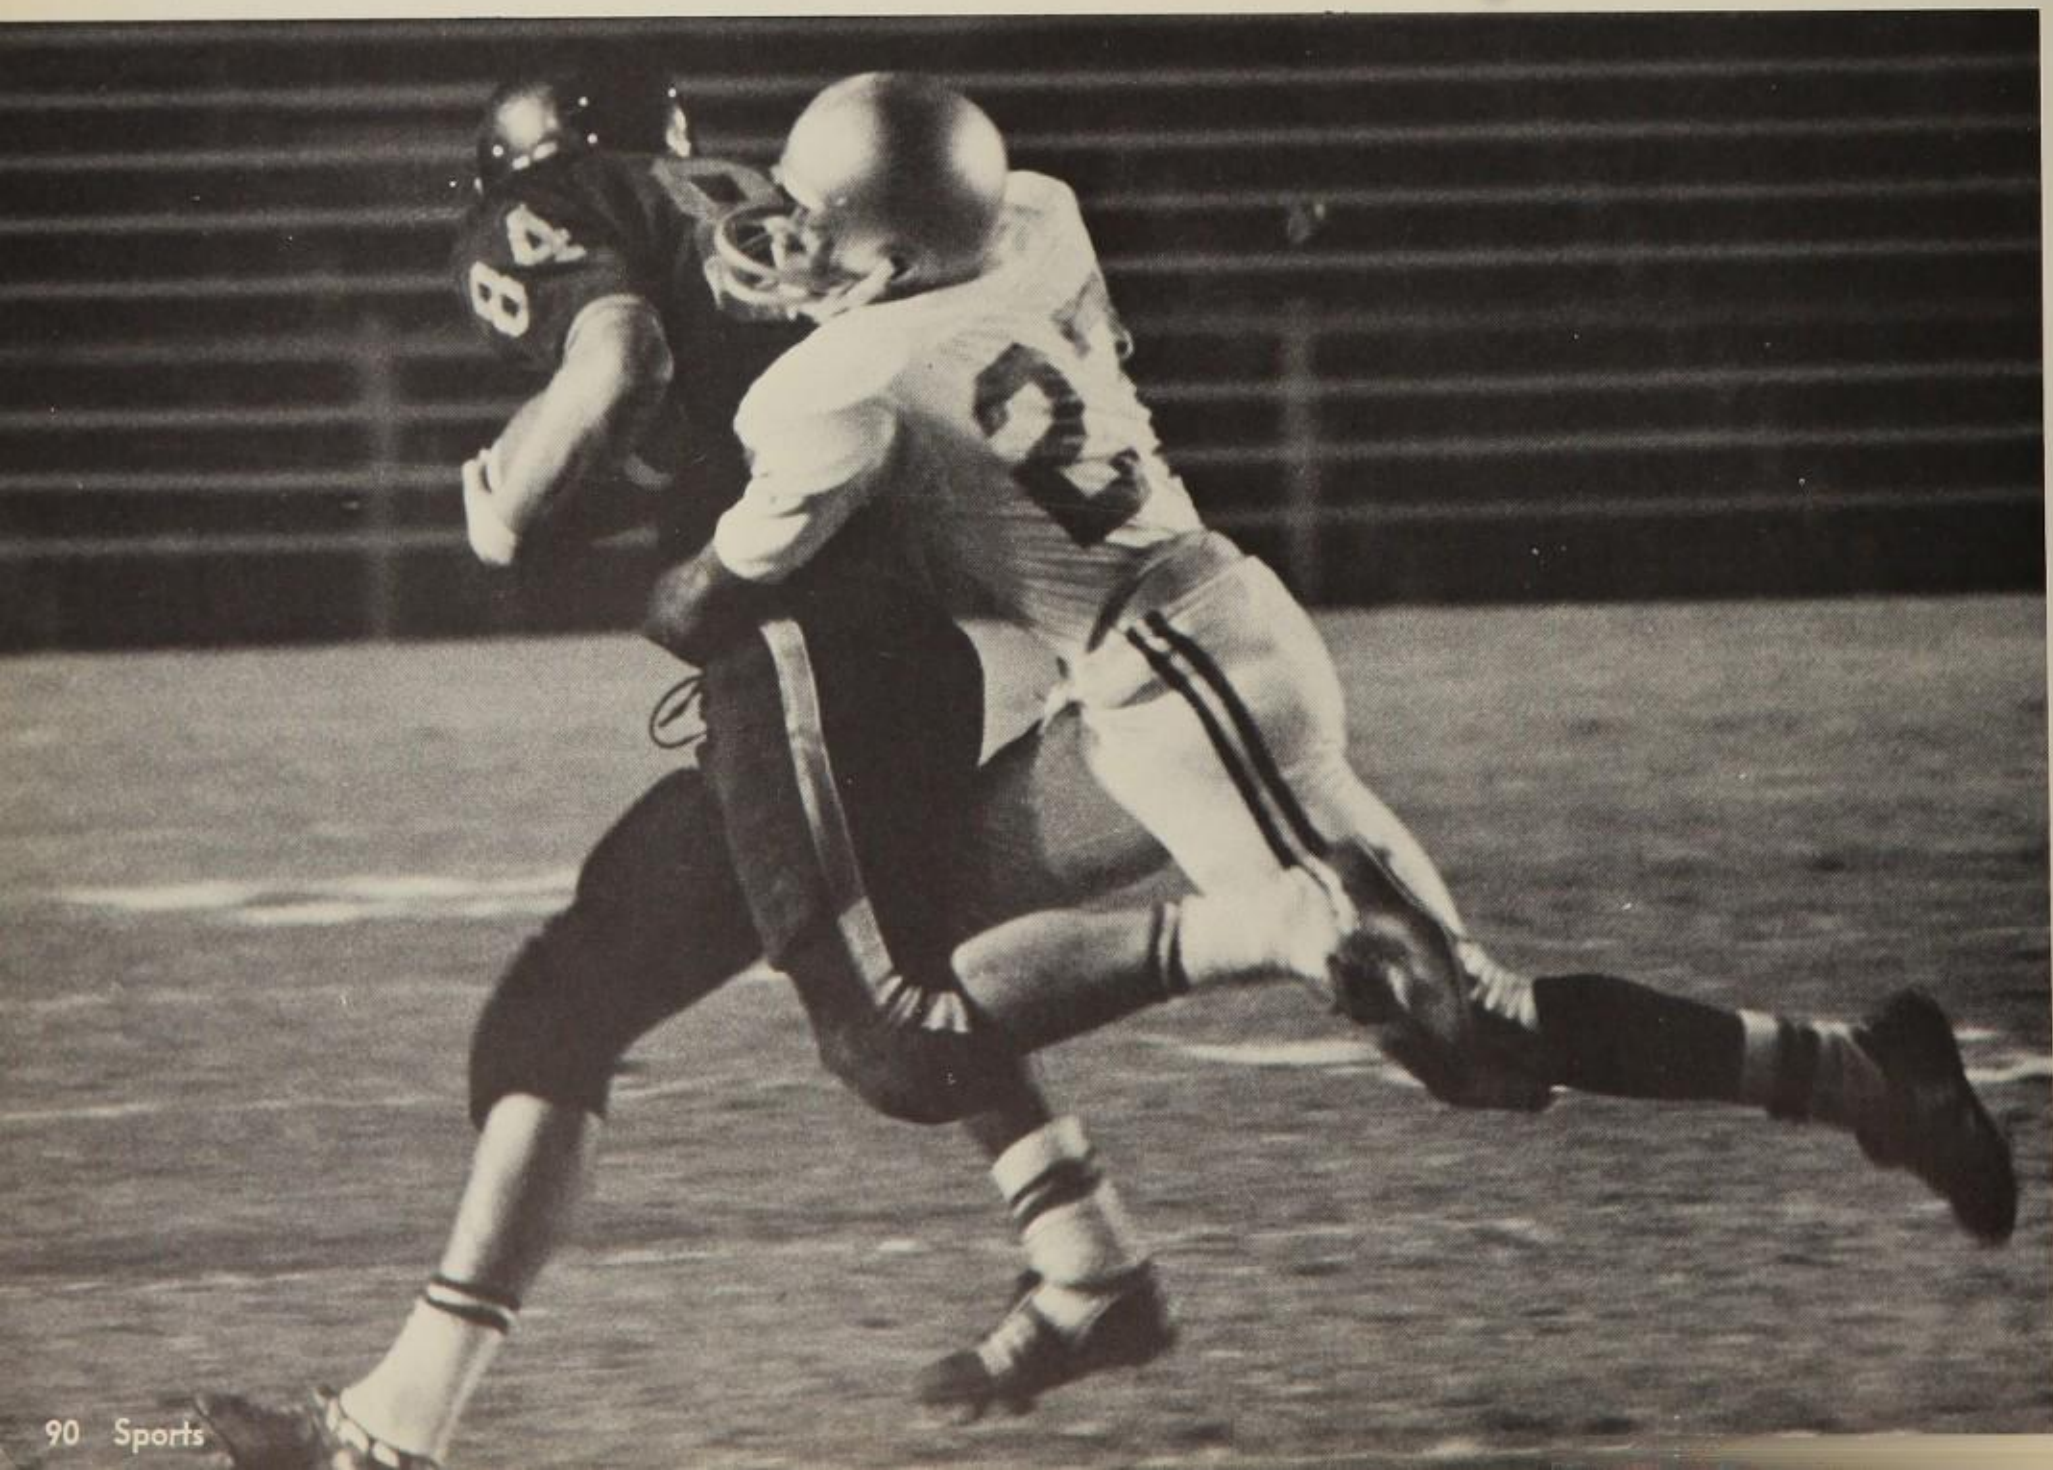
TOP: David is hit as he lets another one go. RIGHT: Younts steps over mass humanity to get to his goal.

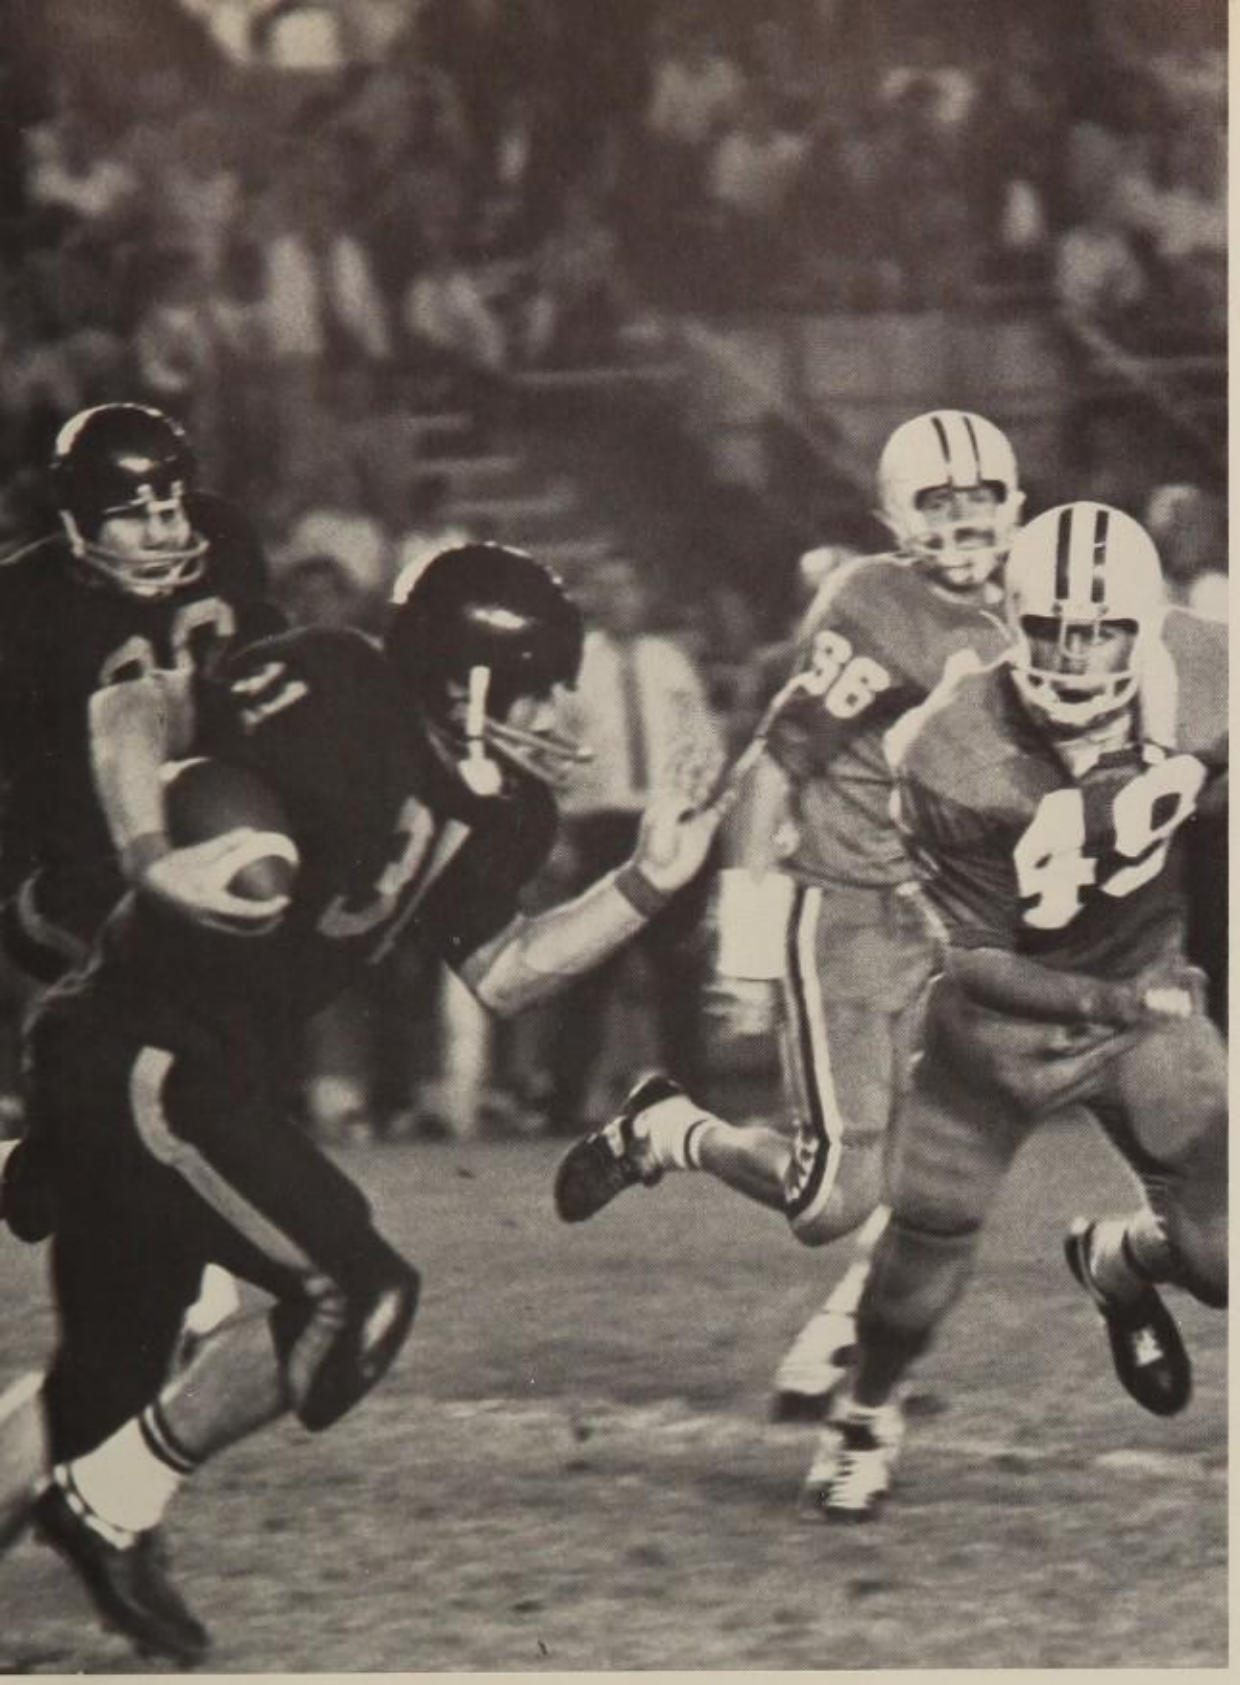
THE RECEIVERS

In football this is the era of the forward pass. Half of the air attack in football depends on the pass catcher. Miami High was fortunate to have a fine trio of receivers that could fake their way into the clear, run with good speed, and most important, possessed strong sensitive hands. All of these qualities were present in this year's leading receiver Andy Younts. Younts' moves, speed, and hands enabled him to shatter many school records and challenge county marks. His forty receptions were an all time high for Stingaree receivers.

The tight end position was in capable hands with big Richard Shapiro. Shapiro had the knack for making crucial third down plays. He also caught more passes than any tight end in the county. Junior end Jay Bryan gained experience by playing in every game this season. This experience will prove invaluable to next year's squad.







THE RUNNING BACKS

The running backs represent the most versatile weapon for attack in the arsenal of football. They run with power, deception, and exciting speed. They are able to catch passes as sure handedly as an end and convert them into long gains. The backs must at times block a huge defensive end or tackle in order to give the quarterback time to complete his pass. Other times they are hit harder carrying out a fake, than when they are actually running with the ball. They must have guts, desire, and most important, a disregard for the consequences. Pete Arocha and David Lundstedt were standouts at their respective positions. Arocha, only a sophomore, matured rapidly and ran with speed and aggressiveness all season. Lunstedt, Miami High's leading rusher, ran with the power and authority that is required of all good fullbacks. He also did a fine job with the Stingaree punting duties. Other players seeing much action this year were Carlos Lopez, Mike Comiskey, and Rosendo Caveiro who scored the first touchdown of the season.

THE LINEMEN

The battle of the linemen is the most violent aspect of football. It is fought by the biggest and strongest athletes on the field. Their objective is to hit, punish and humble their opponent across the line.

The offensive line, coached by Andy Donnelli, was hampered by inexperience and lack of size. The five positions were handled by eight boys; six of which were juniors. The most dependable was all-city honorable mention Gerald Hassell, who played both center and tackle. Junior guard Terry Snowdon distinguished himself by his speed and aggressiveness. Anchoring the rest of the line were: Ramiro Moreno, Dennis Valdez, and Jose Santiesteban at the guards; Tom Flingos and David Behney at the tackles and Jim Pace at center.

The defensive line played with the determination that is present in all Stingaree defensive units. Their job was made even more difficult by the lack of ball control exerted by the Miami High offense. The defense met the challenge with outstanding plays from many individuals. Middle guard, Steve Flynn, was the pride of Larry Beckman's defensive line. Like his brother John, Steve played with the toughness that is the trademark of all Flynns. Noly Perez also deserves much credit for his fine play at defensive tackle. Perez was noted for his speed and agility which is unusual for a man his size. Also showing promise was junior, Joe Fajardo, at defensive tackle. Richard Wynne, Danny Bennett, and Paul Keller played defensive end with skill and ability. Wynne, who started every game, was a second team all-city selection. Linebacker Pete Poulos, Cliff Veigard and Andy Martinez played outstanding all year. They gave support to the front four in preventing the run and also aided the secondary in stopping the pass.

THE SECONDARY

The most difficult position next to the quarterback is that of defensive back. The back must have the speed of a flanker, the hands of an end, the reactions of a halfback, and the intuition of a quarterback. Given all this; it is still hard for a defensive back to cover a good receiver man to man. The reason is elementary: The receiver knows where he is going; the defender must react after this move has been made. The secondary men must be ready in an instant to come up and stop a hard running back or drop back even faster to cover a speedy receiver. The success of a game may come down to the individual efforts of these players, for their mistakes cost touchdowns, not yards.

This year's secondary was led by Brett Anderson, Joe Lopez, and Orlando Zamora at the corners. Juniors Johnny Johnson and Jose Todoroff anchored the safety positions.

THE COACHES

The coaches pace along the sideline, spitting at the turf, conferring with their athletes, always trying to outguess their counterparts across the field. The coaches are men unnoticed by the spectators and often misunderstood by the players. Their job is not only to construct a winning football team; but also to mold the character of the boys they coach. This was an exceptionally trying year for first-year head coach J. W. Beck. He stepped into the premier coaching job of Dade County with a squad lacking the rich talent that was there in previous seasons. With more depth and greater experience, Coach Beck could have kept with tradition and presented Miami High with another winning team.

The coaching staff was crowded with new faces this year. Ex-University of Miami star Joe Mira was assigned to the receivers; Larry Beckman took charge of the defensive line and Joe Layman directed the offensive backfield. Old timers with the staff were—Ralph Davis with the secondary and Andy Donnelli guiding the offensive line. With this season as a reference point, Miami High can look ahead, and move on.

THE BENCH

The bench is the worst seat in the stadium to watch the game. Here a player can only watch helplessly as the contest lies in the hands of others. The mood of the bench sways with the tide of the game—happy, angry, serious, relaxed. The players don't talk much; they just reflect what they have done, right or wrong. They drink ice-water to cool their nerves rather than to quench their thirst. When a game is lost the bench grows quiet and the players still. The only happiness on the bench is victory. Those who don't play sit and hope and wait.

PAIN

The pictures on this page need no captions; expressions tell the story. In a game of intense hitting and body contact, injury is a common occurrence. It is as much a part of football as bands and halftime shows. The images of broken bones and torn ligaments occupy the thoughts of every athlete. He can only hope that the injury will be minor and the pain temporary.

JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL

The B-Squad, like the varsity, did not have a very encouraging season. They lacked the size and speed which is essential to a winning ball club. Under the direction of coaches Smith, Lindsey, and Schee, the junior varsity showed both ability and a competitive spirit. This year's squad should provide many promising players for next year's varsity team.

SWIMMING

Swimming is the eternal fight against the elements of time and water. The swimmer must sacrifice long hours in the pool to achieve his goal: beating the clock! The Miami High Swimming Team has made such a sacrifice this year, practicing long and hard. The team is led by Coach Peter Birmingham, with the assistance of Captain Mark Beran and Co-captain Matt Marvel. They swam for their lives and won!

MIAMI HIGH BASKETBALL

Following the precedent set by football, the 1968-69 basketball season marked the end of a long dynasty for Miami High. It produced one of the worst years in Stingaree history. The obvious reason was the lack of size in the starting lineup. Modern basketball is a game for big men. Miami High had but one. At 6'3", center Gabriel Vidal was forced to play man to man against players 6'7" and 6'8". This mismatch cost Miami valuable rebounds off the offensive and defensive boards. Despite the disadvantages Vidal showed poise and skill which is unusual for a junior pivotman. The only other starter over 6' was forward Ricky Castro who also found himself playing against towering opponents.

Though small in size, the team thrilled spectators with its fast moving action and exciting speed. The Younts twins, Andy and David provided for most of the breathtaking antics. David with his reckless driving and Andy pumping in 20 and 30 footers with amazing consistency, kept the crowds on the edge of their seats throughout the season. Andy finished the season averaging over 20 points per game and was selected to both all-city teams. Also adding experience to the line-up was guard Lazaro Leon who came up with many timely baskets. Others in the action were—Bob Szot, Bruce Braun, Amado Garcia, Mike Comiskey, Chahriar Alayeto, Jose Todoroff and Diego Castro.

The junior varsity turned out to be the Cinderella team at Miami High this year. Their 17-2 mark proved them to be the best J.V. in South Florida. They closed the season winning the junior varsity tournament held in our gym. Leading this year's team were Bill Capps and Alfonso Rodriguez. Capps averaged 16 points per game while Rodriguez hit at a 13 point clip. Pete Arocha, Manuel Hoyes, Jose Nunez and Marcus Rodriguez also played steadily all season.

Conrado (Mouse) Amador was the crowd pleaser on the team, thrilling the fans with his Globetrotter dribbling and passing. Also seeing action were Alfredo Gonzalez, Albert Zamora, Bert Leon, Joe Gonzalez and Jorge Ramos. This year's team was under the direction of Bob Kaufman and Bob Bushong. Speaking about the team Kaufman remarked, "This year's team worked harder than any squad I have seen and they deserved their number one ranking."

BASEBALL

The baseball squad was one of the more successful teams at Miami High this year. Though lacking in power hitters and depth in the starting pitching rotation, the team was a solid contender throughout the season. Consistency at the plate and speed on the bases was the reason for most of the wins. Firstbaseman Orlando Gonzalez and secondbaseman Jorge Perez were leaders at the plate and on the field. The pitching staff was anchored around change-up artist Ernie Venet.

GYMNASTICS

Gymnastics is as old as man himself. Gymnastics has, therefore, always been taken for granted. At Miami High it remains one of the most underrated among sports. This year's team consisted of six men. These six men had a combination of strength, coordination, and agility. They had the grace and showmanship required in a gymnast's performance; on which their score depended. The squad under the direction of Jack Schee, did as well as a team of six could do. This year's athletes were: Senior, Mike Barfus; Juniors, Mike Juranda and Jesus Munos; and sophomores, Chris Robinson, Sam Givens and Steve Kunkle.

GOLF

Golf is a game of precision. It is a game that few master. Every afternoon at the City of Miami's Le Jeune Golf Course, Coach Frank Tallarico helps the boys on the Miami High Golf Team in their attempt to master the sport of Palmer and Nicklaus.

These seven boys work hard at this attempt; and try to do the job which requires a much larger team. Our team is composed mainly of juniors under the leadership of Gene Rucker who averages a 38.6.

Next year's returning team will have quality; if not quantity, and promises to be a winner.

TRACK

Track can easily be defined as a never ending struggle against time and one's self. It takes a different kind of athlete to be a cinderman. It takes a man with perseverance, ambition, and determination, but it also takes the God-given talent of lightning speed.

All of these qualities are manifested in the 1969 Miami High Track Team. Coaches Smith and Robinson worked hard and steady with the goal of transforming these elements into winning scores at the meets. Jim Parrish led the team in the hurdles, helping to stack the points at the meets. Natural-born sprinter Mike Waters was far ahead in short distance running and Hendrix was the highest of the high jumpers.

TENNIS

This year, Coach Jonah Davies tennis team faces many of the same problems encountered in the past years. With most of the attention focused on football, basketball and baseball; many of the school's athletes find little glory in joining the tennis team. With only seven players this year's team was still determined and victory minded.

Leading the squad was Captain Alex Ordones who is playing the number one position for the second year. Alex's steadiness and coordination make him a top notch competitor.

BOWLING

"A strike scatters all the pins as a perfectly-placed ball slams into the pocket between the first and third pins. This is the goal of all bowlers." So says World Book Encyclopedia. It certainly is the goal of George C. Dorste's Miami High Bowling Team. Our Boys, with Flip Schemer as captain, picked up enough pins this year to win the number two spot among Dade County Teams. Eddie Rossie and James Gavalek gave outstanding performances on behalf of our school.

Our girls, with first year coach Linda Linder, did well within their own right and won the third place in their division. Miami High's Diane Bakeman set the pace for Dade's female bowlers by striking the highest set of the season with 659 as her score.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL AND BASKETBALL

Contrary to popular belief girls do play sports! At Miami High they specialize in volleyball and basketball. The teams were both winners. Miss Holt's basketball girls won their division while Miss Blunt's volleyball team ended in second place after a loss to Hialeah. Betty Guerra and Judy Galardo served as captains of both teams.

BOYS' VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball is the only non-varsity sport for boys. It is an outgrowth of the intramural program under Mr. Robert Cook. Miami High's team has won the County Tournament for the third consecutive year. All three teams—Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores went undefeated. This is the only Miami High team able to make this claim!

WE ARE GRATEFUL FOR OUR FREEDOM OF WORSHIP.
WE ARE GRATEFUL TO OUR GOD AND HIS GIFT OF ETERNAL LIFE

"For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the GIFT of GOD: Not of works, lest any man should boast."

Ephesians 2:8, 9

For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten son, that whosoever (your signature) believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

The year is now yours. Every memory is bound and printed for those nostalgic moments.

We, the yearbook staff, hope it will bring you infinite pleasure and at the same time renew that spark of pride for MIAMI HIGH.

Of course, none of this grand production would have been possible without the help of a select few. Our thanks go to ⬇

Dear Fifi,
It has been a good
year despite knowing you.
No, but really, I have truly enjoyed your friendship and the fun I have had with you!
Hope to see you next year
Best of luck,
Robert

I don't know how to begin this one - I know that I've had tremendous fun with you and soooo
many laughs - In 10th grade
I'll remember every lunch at the Queen and all then John Jacob and - I can go on forever - next year
I'll say this and this year too - All the happiness and success forever and ever. I can't think of a more true friend - I'm a wonderful - sunny - happy - so lucky summer (I'll be seeing you during that time I hope.

Luff ya

Dear Fifi,
Have one heck of a summer
and a great 11th grade year.
Remember all the times we had together and please don't forget me when you're a big senior and too good for us little sophomores.
Best wishes

Fifi

I have truly enjoyed knowing you. I also love the way you are a true "Soul Sister" although you don't look it. Happiness and success to you. Remember that it is better to be a young man's fool than to be an old man's flame.
